STEAMSHIP WRECK

Was Due to Error in Compass the Court Says

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—A court of wreck commissioners here has just completed an inquiry into the cause of the wreck of the steamship Hestia on Proprietor ledge Oct. 25 in which 35 seamen were drowned. It had been alleged that the wreck was due to the neglect to light and sound off Gannet rock, and testimony to that effect was given by the survivors. The commissioners found that the wreck was due to the following causes: "An error in the compass, due probably to what is known as gaseous error, aided probably by the fact that the vessel carried a cargo of 800 tons of iron.

"Neglect of the master to take soundings when in sight of the Gannet rock.

"Insufficient allowance for tides and the set wind.

"Error of judgment on the part of the master in allowing his ship to get the bearing of the Gannet rock light."

N. Y. CENTRAL ROAD

Plans Pension System for Its Veteran Employees

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—Every employee of the New York Central lines of 70 years or older will be compelled to withdraw from the service on Jan. 1 and retire on a pension.

Official word received by A. H. Hanson, general passenger agent of the Boston & Albany road, yesterday, embraces the latter road in the list of the lines to be affected by the pension plan.

Throughout the entire system over 100,000 employees are enabled to participate in the gratuity plan on their reaching 70 years. The annual cost to the system is placed at $500,000.

All departments are included. In order to receive the pension employees must have been in the continuous service of the road for 10 years.

An annual payment of 1 per cent. for each year of continuous service, based upon the average rate of pay received for 10 years preceding his retirement, will constitute each man's pension. If a man has been in the employ for 50 years he will receive half his pay; 40 years, 40 per cent.; 30 years, 30 per cent.; 20 years, 20 per cent.; 10 years, 10 per cent.

Another condition in the pension plan provides that should a man be unfit for duty he may be retired even before he reaches 70 years. In such cases the pension plan will be decided by the board of directors.

"The idea of pensioning the employees has been under consideration for seven years," said W. J. Fripp, general superintendent of the Boston & Albany yesterday. "Several plans have been under consideration. The fact that this particular plan has been adopted must have been, in the opinion of the directors, the best for the employee."

"There are a great many employees who would have retired several years ago, but have been holding on until the pension system had been adopted by the road. Now they will be able to retire and still have an income."

"No doubt the plan may appear somewhat vague to some, but further details which are sure to follow, will explain many of the qualities of the pensioning system."

At present the New York Central lines, the Pennsylvania railroad and the Baltimore & Ohio are the only roads to pension their employees, although the Boston & Maine have a plan under consideration. It is said that there are more employees over 70 years on the Boston & Albany than on any other road in the country.

VERY LIGHT ORDERS

APPEARED FOR EXECUTION IN THE STOCK MARKET TODAY

Prices Moved Sluggishly and Irregularly—Decline in Market Brought on by Buying Orders and Prices Then Advanced—Western Union Made Jump of Two Points

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Very light orders appeared for execution when the stock market opened. Prices moved sluggishly and irregularly but the principal issues were lower. Great Northern pfd and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie declined large fractions. Western Union rose 1.

The decline in the market brought in buying orders and prices advanced slowly until all of the important stocks were selling fractionally above yesterday's closing. A number of specialties showed some activity at rising prices. Western Union improved 2 points. American Sugar fell 1 1/2.

Business dwindled but there was no important yielding in prices. Bonds steady.

Local traction stocks were bid up smartly. The Erie and E. R. T. of the minor metal stocks were also in demand. Sloss-Sheffield Steel gained 1/2 and Utah-Copper 1. Elsewhere there was heaviness in spots, particularly in St. Paul and Anaconda Copper which ran off a point from the best prices of the morning.

Prices drifted downwards in the latter part of the day, the sustained strength of the local tractions and a few other specialties having no effect on the general list. U. P. surrendered all of its gain of a point.

Boston Clearing House
BOSTON, Nov. 12.—Bank clearings statement: Exchanges, $28,747,352; balances, $1,703,397.

The Money Market
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Money on call firm at five per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5 to 5 1/2 per cent. Exchanges, $880,172,947; balances, $13,081,180.

Northern Pacific balance sheet issued by the company gives the total profit for the year for the period covered as $5,000,000 and the loss surplus of $58,000,000. Total new issue of the company stock that could be carried by this statement would average about 2 1/2 per cent.

Heavy calling of loans by one of the largest national banks caused an advance to 5 1/2 per cent. in the rate for loans on the exchange this afternoon. It is understood that large shipments of cash were made to Chicago today where the money will be used to finance the new issue of the national banks of that city in anticipation of an early call by the controller of the currency.

In the wholesale dry goods district here were leaders of money in the financial district today. Some of the money was also loaned here but in moderate quantities.

Boston Copper Market

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—A sharp advance in North Butte to 61 1/2, up 1 1/2, carried the copper to higher prices in the early trading today. The market was strong and active.

The copper magnates who are known at this time to have standing offers of joining the consolidation are: The Amalgamated companies, Butte Consolidation, North Butte, Globe, Phelps, Dodge properties, Greene-Cannara and the J. B. Haggin companies of Peru.

The sole object of the consolidated companies will be to prevent all low prices on the stock and an active agent of the policy is J. P. Morgan and the J. D. Ryan officials. If the plans of the instigators are fulfilled the corporation will handle 70 per cent. of the total output of the copper metal in North and South America and foreign agencies will be established that will move the metal in the various countries of the globe.

Advices by telegram this morning from W. D. Rich, the manager of the Superior copper mines in Michigan, the representative of the firm in Boston, told of the digging of the ore at the depth of 600 feet level. The operations going on this week are merely tests and the mines will not be running on the output of this level for another week.

The workings of the company the ore yielding a metal which is from 7 to 10 per cent. copper and the ore taken from a lower position now gives 22 per cent. with some valuable silver values.

Palma Webber who has charge of the properties of the North Butte company telegraphed the officials this morning that a valuable vein had been struck in the Jesse May region.

Daniel Cuenchheim who returned today after a visit covering a period of four months to Europe, when consulted today on the matter of the forming of a consolidation of the copper interests of this country denied all knowledge of the proposed gigantic scheme.

Mr. Cuenchheim said that whether or not the interests formed into one large company, the stock which was the subject of the consolidation would sell at higher prices than it is being offered for now. Several of the outside leaders were inclined to doubt the statement of the great financier of the copper interests consolidation and some considered it as mere business-like talk.

The London Market

While the session of the market in London yesterday was a little better than what might be expected under the existing circumstances, the traders of this market were not anxious to make soundings this morning and their peculiar action was the query of the domestic market. At the present time the foreign market is considering what will be the outcome of the dissolution of parliament and the local market consideration is being given to the probable actions of these boards when the matter of the budget is put up for action. Common opinion is that the article will be rejected and that the country will be the beneficiary and the holding of the sessions is thought to have been the nucleus of the rumor.

In the event of the houses voting the budget the stocks and investments of this country which have found sale in this market will be fully covered and no loss in the standing will result. The New York market yesterday showed no loss on the holdings of this market and no fears of the future need be entertained.

Business Conditions
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. still reflect the drawback of high temperatures at many points, yet favorable reports predominate and prospects for future business are increasingly bright. Complaints are still being received from Boston that weather conditions are in favor of a full absorption of seasonable goods at retail and wholesale trade is generally quiet. Unsettledness was noted in the cotton goods market but there is now less talk of curtailment.

NIGHT EDITION

THE MAYORALTY FIGHT

Candidates Heard in Different Parts of the City

As the campaign grows warmer, Messrs. O'Donnell and Crowley continue to address meetings at their headquarters while the other candidates have taken to mill gate addresses at noon and in public places out doors at night. All have taken up certain issues beneficial to the city at large, to discuss and there is comparatively little of a personal nature heard except from two of the six candidates.

John F. Meehan addressed gatherings at the corner of Lawrence and Rogers and at Concord and Andover streets last evening and spoke at the Lowell Machine shop yesterday.

Rep. Meehan also addressed about 1000 men at the Lowell Machine shop gate, Jackson street, this noon. He was enthusiastically received and listened to with marked attention. He eliminated all personalities and discussed the issues of the campaign, touching also upon the public records of the different candidates now aspiring for the position of mayor. At the close of his remarks he was heartily applauded.

Crowley Meeting
The ward two supporters of Mayor Robert J. Crowley, to the number of about 100, gathered at his headquarters last evening and the meeting was presided over by John Queenan with Frederick Lawton, secretary. Mayor Crowley addressed the gathering, which was large and enthusiastic, for 40 minutes, pleading for united action by democrats to secure a victory.

Maloney Meeting
An audience of 500 employees of the American Hide & Leather company listened to William E. Maloney at the corner of Perry and Rogers street this noon. He advised improved conditions in tenement property in this city, and he urged the establishment of a playground at Fort Hill park. He said he wanted a clean, manly campaign, and that he would not attempt to attack any of the other candidates. He was enthusiastically cheered when he concluded.

Six members of the present board of aldermen are running again. They are Messrs. Badger, Adams, Dexter, Gray, Wainwright and Connors.

At the request of friends in both parties Dr. James E. Leary filed papers for the school board in ward seven. In this ward Andrew G. Swapp, who has held the position 25 years, retires from the office and to succeed him three republicans are contesting for the nomination. Dr. Leary will have no opposition for the democratic nomination.

On the democratic list for aldermen are five candidates who have previously held the position: Col. Carmichael, Owen E. Brennan, James J. Gallagher, Joseph McDonald, and the present democratic member, Jeremiah Connors.

Ward five beats all records for constitutional candidates, having 12 in the field.

If a special election is held for county commissioner there may be an opportunity to get through the county ring.

SHOT BY WOMAN

Farm Manager Morley Refused to Marry Her

DETROIT, Nov. 12.—Samuel F. Morley, farm manager on a large estate at Bloomfield hills, 20 miles north of Detroit, died today from two bullet wounds inflicted last night, according to the man's dying statement, by Miss Bertha Litau, cook at the farm, whom he had refused to marry. The couple were walking along a country road. Morley said she asked him to marry her and when he refused she drew a revolver and shot him through the neck and the abdomen. Officers found

Miss Litau in bed in her room and took her into custody. In a cell at the Pontiac station Miss Litau gave her version of the affair to the officers. "Morley did me a great wrong in promising to marry me and in refusing to do so. I shot him. And if I were going to die in three minutes I would not ask forgiveness for what I have done. He got what was due him."

Manufacturers of carded wools, however, report the outlook most encouraging. Exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States are $2,258,187,322, a loss of 0.6 per cent. compared with a year ago.

ANOTHER LYNCHING

White Man Who Killed Wife Was Seized By Mob

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 12.—Henry Salzman, white, a photographer who killed his wife last July with an axe, was taken from jail at 11:40 o'clock last night by a mob and hanged to a telegraph pole and his body was riddled with bullets. This lynching followed the lynching of Will James, a negro, earlier in the evening. James was hanged for the murder of Miss Annie Peley.

Gov. Deneen, who is in Chicago, was appealed to by Sheriff Davis, who telephoned from Cairo that troops were necessary.

The governor ordered eleven companies of the National guard to Cairo at once.

JUSTICE OF PEACE TELLS OF CURE BY CUTICURA

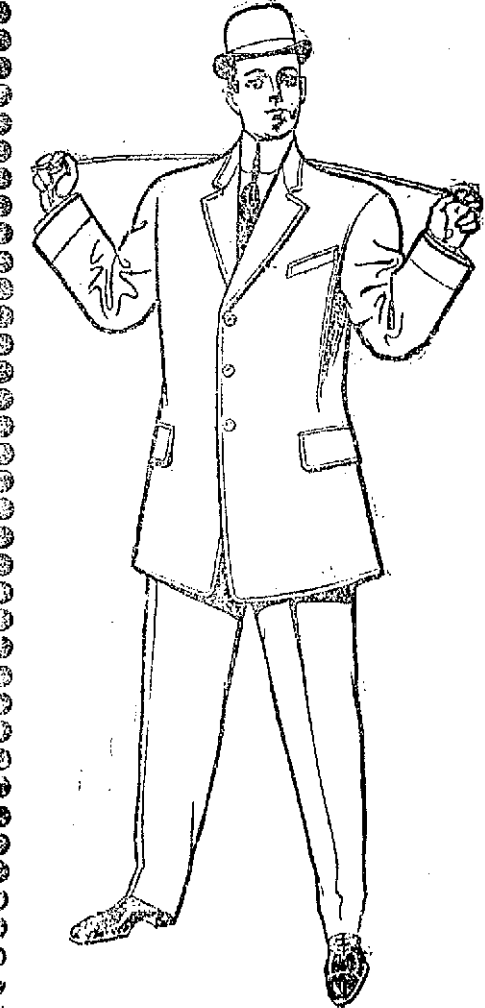

"My baby boy was afflicted with eczema. It ran on him until he was full of sores from his head to his feet. Even the bottom of his feet were full of cracks with the blood coming out. I believe that his case was as bad as it generally gets for he was bleeding all over and could not rest. He was too small to tell anything about it, only to fret and cry. We could get nothing to relieve him until we got the Cuticura Ointment and the first application of the ointment put him to sleep. Then we used Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soap and he continued to improve until cured. The boy is all right now and has been for the last seven or eight years. I believe that the Cuticura Remedies will cure all cases of eczema if used right, as I know that they were the first things that gave our baby relief. D. J. # THE BRITISHERS Won Another Victory at Horse Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Before the biggest crowd the National Horse Show has drawn since the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia, the British officers won their third victory last night in the jumping competition open to all nations.

Lieutenants Yorke and Sebago Montefiore, riding abreast in full uniform on government horses, were first over the four foot stone wall and the double post and rails obstacles 20 feet apart.

Lieutenants Gordon Johnson and I. S. Martin, of Fort Riley, Kansas, were second, and another British pair, Major Beresford and Lieutenant Walwyn, third. Lieutenant Walwyn also won the McClay cup this afternoon for hunters which have ridden to hounds eight or more times this season.

In the less spectacular classes today, Judge W. H. Moore kept up his long line of victories over Alfred G. Vanderbilt. His Quick Sand and Quick Silver took a blue in the farm class; his Robin Hood took the George Watson cup for horses shown before a lady's single victory; his Lady Seaton took the English hackney challenge cup; and Robin Hood again, driven in pair with Wallenstein and C. Watson, entered in the class suitable for a heavy vehicle.

BLAZE IN CAR DEPARTMENT RESPONDED TO ALARM FROM BOX 271

An alarm from box 271 about 11:30 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the department to a slight blaze in a sand car at the power house of the Boston & Northern Middlesex street. The car was stationed in the rear of the station, and the railway officials are puzzled as to the cause of the blaze. The car had not been used yesterday. The blaze was insignificant, one stream completely smothering it.

MERRY REUNION

Of Long Pond Vacationists in Boston

The vacationists of Long pond road held their annual reunion and dance in Catholic Union hall, Boston, on Wednesday evening. The reunion, in its attendance and in its happy renewals of friendships, was a success. In fact, so many vacationists were present that during a portion of the evening dancing space was at a premium. Catholic Union hall is known as one of the finest halls in Boston and the gathering assembled there was in keeping with the hall. There were about 400 present.

The guests went to the reunion at an early hour. From eight till nine o'clock the orchestra entertained with selections from popular and classical music. During this time vacation friendships were renewed and vacation experiences retold. Not a group could be passed without hearing the "lake," "Long Pond," "Willow Dale," and the like, mentioned by some former summer resident of that vicinity.

The bachelor girls, composing the fifty-seven varieties were to be seen scattered about the hall. Unlike vacation time, however, they now were accompanied by "gentlemen friends" and, needless to say, in the eyes of none could be found that far-away look, seen at times as the bachelor girls on their vacation wistfully gazed Bostonward while seated by the shores of Long Pond.

And, let it be stated, there was also a difference in dress. At the pond, our bachelor girl was a bachelor indeed; she cared not a hang about the correct hang of her skirt or the proper tilt to her hat, if hat she had. At the reunion, however, art, though little needed, collaborated with nature and from such a union there emerged in all the glory of a pretty gown, diminutive dancing slippers and bewitching tresses, the bachelor girl as seen at Catholic Union hall.

Not alone was there to be seen a difference in dress but also there could be noted a difference in deportment. Telling tales out of school, however, is always a despicable practice, a practice never to be encouraged even in the most trivial matters, so therefore, this topic will not be aired for the amusement of a frivolous public.

Each of the dances on the program was dedicated to some particular person, locality, or event well known to those present, and these, now were incidents by the returned vacationists were appreciated only as the memory of by-gone pleasures can be.

Many Lowell people who during the summer had made the acquaintance of the Bostonians attended the dance. Mr. and Mrs. Schofield of Dracut, at whose farm the greater portion of those present had spent their vacations, were the guests of honor.

Mrs. M. J. Harrington of Somerville assisted by twenty-two of the bachelor girls, with James McSorley of South Boston, had general charge of the dance. Mr. James Regan was chief aid.

MUSICAL COMEDY.

WILL BE PRESENTED BY K. OF C.

In the rooms of the Knights of Columbus in the Associate building Wednesday evening the first rehearsal of the comic opera "The Maids and the Midwives," which will be presented by the council was held. The rehearsal was under the direction of Harold Lowell Tracey, the composer of the opera. The production will be presented in the opera house during the early part of February and will be given two presentations. Mr. Tracey assisted by Mark Sullivan of Boston selected some of the chorus and talent for the dances included in the piece. Considering the short time the committee which has the sole charge of the producing of the piece had in the securing of the talent, an excellent representation of the committee's canvass was manifest Wednesday night when seventy or more young people, comprising talent of the city, were present at the rehearsal.

The cast will be composed of at least 150 people and the society is desirous of securing the young talent of the city.

Lowell Council, K. of C. will tender a reception to Bishop Joseph Anderson, of Boston, in Associate hall, next Tuesday evening. Members of the order and their friends will turn out in great numbers to greet the new bishop. At the meeting of the council last night committees were named to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A well attended meeting of Division 28, A. O. H., was held last night. The bazaar committee reported progress. It was announced that a class initiation will be held Sunday, Nov. 18, in Assiniboia hall under the auspices of Division 8.

Grand Union lodge, No. 7, I. O. O. F., held a very successful rehearsal of the first degree last night, a full attendance of the staff being present. The floor work was done in an exceptionally fine manner, and the ritualistic work was fully as good. Another rehearsal will be held next Thursday night. Grand Union lodge will work the degrees in conjunction with Highland and Veritas lodges.

The regular meeting of Spindle City circle, C. F. of A. was held last evening. After the business meeting an entertainment was held, at which visitors were present from Granitville, and other circles. Refreshments were served.

ENJOYABLE TIME

O'Donnell Benefit Asso. Held Party

The annual dancing party of the members of the O'Donnell Mutual Benefit association was held last night in O. U. A. M. hall in Middle street. The members and their friends turned out in large numbers and the party proved to be a very enjoyable one.

The hall was decorated in an artistic manner, and music for dancing was furnished by Gilmore's orchestra. The officers of the evening were:

General manager, Henry W. Worth; assistant general manager, John J. McNabb; floor director, J. T. Henry; seat floor director, Emma E. McOsker; chief aid, Helen Brady; aids, Mary Rehan, Annette Lareau, Nellie Lyons, Katharine McQuaid, Josephine Murphy, Beatrice White, Katherine Sullivan, Louise Charette, Edna Dempsey, Katharine Harkins, Elizabeth Sullivan, Elizabeth Harmonist; general committee, Elizabeth Toman; secretary, Annie Conney.

FORCED TO JUMP

Women and Children Had Narrow Escape

OSSINING, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Five hundred spectators, mostly women and children, narrowly escaped serious injury here last night in a fire panic in the Opera House when films in a moving picture machine caught fire.

Many who reached the fire escapes were compelled to jump a dozen feet to reach the ground, owing to the failure of the drop ladders to work properly, while many of the 300 persons who scrambled down the single narrow flight of stairs to the exits were bruised. Meanwhile the fire burned itself out without great damage.

ARM TORN OFF

Wm. Taylor Met With a Serious Accident

William Taylor, aged 17 years and residing in Andrews street, had his right arm caught in a picker at the Belvidere No. 2 mill about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and before the machinery could be stopped the lower portion of his arm was torn off.

But little is known about the accident. Albion F. Swanton, superintendent of the mill, said that the first that he knew of the accident was when Taylor came rushing up to him.

The ambulance was called and the unfortunate boy was taken to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

DANCING PARTY

WAS HELD BY THE "UMEEU3" CLUB

The "Umeeu3" held a dancing party at Associate hall last night. There was a good attendance and the affair proved to be successful in every particular. During the early part of the evening an entertaining concert program was carried out.

The hall was prettily decorated in hunting of white and yellow, while the stage was banked with evergreen and potted plants. Hibbard's orchestra furnished music.

The managers of the affair were: Messrs. John A. Crowley, James E. Quinn and Thomas E. McGuane.

HANGED AND SHOT

Negro Who Murdered White Girl Was Lynched at Cairo, Ill.

His Body Was Dragged Through Principal Streets and Burned — Women Active in Mob of Thousands — Another Negro Implicated in the Crime

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 12.—Women were the first to pull the rope when William James, the negro suspected of being the murderer of Miss Annie Pelley was lynched in the most prominent square of this city last night in the presence of 10,000 people. James, was taken from Sheriff Davis, who with his prisoner, had been fleeing from mob violence for 24 hours, and as he was strung up to the public arch at Eighth and Commercial streets the rope broke. Before the unfortunate man could regain his feet the mob surged around and from pistol and rifle over 500 shots were emptied into the victim's body. These acts of violence seemed only to whet the mob's appetite for revenge and James' body was then dragged for over a mile through the city's streets to the spot where Miss Annie Pelley's body was found on Monday night and there a huge fire was lighted into which the negro's body was thrown.

The alleged partial confession of James, implicating another negro, Arthur Alexander, turned the mob's activities into a new direction and so threatened the outlook that on the instructions of Gov. Denen from Springfield, the Cairo company of the National guard was ordered to hold itself in readiness for instant service. Sheriff Davis, deeply deplored the lynching and said he had done all in his power to save his man, but in his weakened condition and against such heavy odds he was helpless.

He said that after taking James from Cairo he had to leave the train at Donkila Wednesday night to elude a mob that was waiting for him at a town ahead. He made an effort to get a vehicle at Dongola, but found it impossible because the news had spread over the country and everyone, knowing the crime that the negro had committed, refused to assist in eluding the pursuers. They even refused food in many cases.

At every point where he tried to board a train he was blocked by a threatening crowd. After a long, exhausting, foodless tramp, the sheriff and his deputy had laid down with the prisoner to rest. At dusk scouts of the searchers found the three and news was sent along the line to the scattered mob to board a Big Four train at Belknap. This order was obeyed and a big crowd was on the train when it reached Cairo about 8 o'clock.

The negro was taken off at Tenth street and marched right through the principal streets of Cairo to the most public place under the city arch at Eighth and Commercial streets.

While in custody of the mob coming to Cairo the negro would not talk about the crime, but when he stood under the arch he weakened and confessed that he slew Miss Pelley. He said that Arthur Alexander was implicated in the crime.

The attempt at hanging followed quickly. The growth of the mob, the grinding of the rope and the struggles of the negro stopped only a moment owing to the snapping of the rope. The 10,000 persons who had looked on and danced in glee produced armed men almost by magic and they filled the negro with bullets.

Miss Pelley was an orphan, 22 years old. Her home was formerly at Anna, Ill., but for two years she had lived with her sister, Mrs. John Coffman, of Cairo. She was employed as a salesgirl.

On Monday evening she left the store at 6 o'clock and walked with her chum, Ella Dolan, as far as Miss Dolan's home, continuing along on her way to her own dwelling.

The discovery of the handle of her umbrella Tuesday in the front yard of the residence of Harry Lips, three doors from the Coffman home, indicates that this was where she was first attacked. It is supposed that when she was confronted she struck her assailant with her umbrella and the handle flew into the yard.

It is believed that the man thrust the gag into her mouth and carried her half a block to an alley. Marks on the ground showed that she was dragged 75 feet to the spot where she was strangled to death.

Her fearfully bruised and lacerated

Mrs. Sherwin's Letter

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 16, 1907.
Dear Sir—For 12 years I suffered with sciatic and muscular rheumatism. Sometimes for weeks at a time I was unable to get on a pair of shoes. My feet were so badly swollen and painful. To walk any distance was out of the question. My knees bothered me considerably, causing me great pain when going up and down stairs, or arising from a chair.
I tried different physicians, various kinds of so-called rheumatic cures and remedies recommended by friends, but nothing helped me permanently until I tried Varnesis. I noticed a marked improvement in my digestion at once; my stomach had troubled me a great deal; food distressed me, failed to digest, causing gas, etc.; but after taking Varnesis a short time I could eat anything I chose to without after distress. I continued taking the medicine in bottles of having my rheumatism relieved, and was not disappointed this time, as I had previously been with every other remedy I tried.
I am now entirely cured of rheumatism and stomach trouble, am doing my own work and am in better health than ever expected to be again. Thanking you for all that your remedy has done for me, I am again,
Most sincerely yours,

BRAILEY OF TOLEDO

GETS CONTROL OF LONG DISTANCE TEL. CO.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—James S. Bradley, Jr., of Toledo, O., yesterday

acknowledged that he had bought a controlling interest in the New Long Distance Telephone company of Indiana, but he would not say with whom he was associated in the deal.

Mr. Bradley, it is understood, has bought 75 per cent of the stock of the company at 60 cents on the dollar and the purchase price has been paid. Bradley denied that he represented the Bell interests.

"Then do you represent the Postal Telegraph company?" he was asked. "That is a matter of which I will not speak," he answered.

The New Long Distance Telephone company will be operated by practically the same officers as heretofore.

The directors have retained enough of their stock to permit their continuing as members of the board.

Among business men who have been concerned in the development of independent telephone lines it is said that purchases of the stock of different companies in Indiana and Ohio by Bradley and his associates will reach $10,000,000.

END OF A RED NOSE

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections

A peculiar feature of poslam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red spots or any other inflammation, blemish, or discoloration, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It can be had of any pharmacist who sells pure drugs. Falls & Burkinshaw, and Carter & Sherburne's drug stores make a specialty of it. Fifty cents' worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

Anyone who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

COL. ROOSEVELT

Reported As Enjoying Good Health

NAKURU, Nanyasha Province, British East Africa, Nov. 12.—A courier who arrived here today from Guas ingishu plateau reported that all members of the American hunting expedition now on the plateau were well.

A careful scrutiny of cable dispatches sent out from here during the past several days proves that the rumor saying that Mr. Roosevelt had met with an accident did not originate here.

SCHOOL CLOSED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 12.—At the request of Health Officer Richard L. Shay of North Providence the Maryville school was closed today on account of diphtheria and will remain closed until the authorities have been able to offset the epidemic. At present only four children have had the disease but as all of these were taken from the school when they were at an advanced stage it is feared that others of the 100 scholars will be taken ill.

GREAT SECRECY

Being Maintained in Relation to the Sugar Cases

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Following fast on the announcement of the American Sugar Refining Co. that a reorganized working force of the Williamsburg refinery would be installed as a result of the exposure of the weighing frauds came the development today that another large sugar importing concern, the Arbuckle Bros. Co. had begun negotiations with Mr. Stimson for the purpose of paying into the United States treasury duties on sugar imports which the government authorities claim should have been paid on past weighments.

Mr. Stimson declined to discuss this new development in the sugar import fraud case and W. N. Dykman, counsel for the firm of Arbuckle Bros., retained a similar reticence, but from one of Mr. Stimson's associates it was learned that these negotiations had not only been begun but were well on their way to a conclusion.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained by both the government prosecutors and the representatives of the companies, but there is a persistent report to the effect that indictments have already been found. The belief among those familiar with the case is that these indictments have been sealed and that the negotiations now pending are for the purpose of effecting a compromise whereby on payment of a full refund of all the duties these indictments would be dismissed.

No definite estimate of the amount involved could be gained, but it is generally believed that the refund contemplated aggregates several hundred thousand dollars.

SUFFRAGETTES

Broke up a Play at London

LONDON, Nov. 12. — Suffragettes held up a performance at the Savoy theatre last night, substituting a "votes for women" demonstration until they were ejected.

They had learned that Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, was going to the theatre to see the comedy opera, "The Mountaineers," in which there is a typical song bantering himself and the budget.

While the budget song was on the suffragettes rose and shouted it down with shrieks of "Lloyd-George, why don't you give women votes?" and similar utterances. One wildly waved a stomach pump and another a bottle of milk, which now seem indispensable accessories of their propaganda.

Protests and shouts of "sit down" came from all sides, but the women ignored the remonstrances.

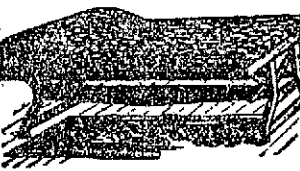

Mr. Lloyd-George kept his eyes on the stage, applauding the attempts of the actors to sing down the hubbub. Soon other people in the dress circle lost patience. Men left their seats and tried to reason with the suffraettes, who only yelled the louder.

The men then tried to remove them, but the disturbers clung to their seats and resisted. Finally policemen were obtained, and with the help of many ran the women out to an accompaniment of a chorus of hoots.

JAMES CORBETT Is Heir to $250,000 Estate

PITTSBURG, Nov. 12.—James J. Corbett, a bricklayer out of work, and heir to a $250,000 estate in Boston, was found in an almost starving condition by Pinkerton detectives yesterday, who notified him of his good fortune. He will start for Boston immediately to claim the estate.

Attorney William H. Scharton of Boston some time ago wrote here, saying that William J. Corbett had recently died in that city, leaving a large estate, to which his brother, who was supposed to live at McKeesport, near here, was the only heir.

Three hours before the letter was received Corbett was seen on the streets of McKeesport searching for work, but suddenly disappeared.

Alderman W. D. Mansfield, one of Corbett's friends, interested Superintendent Dinalo of the Pinkerton's in the search, with the result that yesterday Corbett was located at Morganza, where one of the charitable county homes is situated.

Corbett, after searching diligently for work, at last had been forced to ask the city for assistance. He said last night that while he knew his brother was wealthy, they never had been on extremely friendly terms, and it was a great surprise to him that he should come in for the amount of money the lawyer's letter indicated he would receive.

Abraham Lincoln Said

"The plain people are the bone and sinew of the nation." He was right, and this wise saying applies to our own city of Lowell. The plain people made Lowell what it is to-day. They are the bone and sinew of the city. They do business in Lowell, they work in Lowell, they earn their money in Lowell, and spend it in Lowell. Most of them are too busy to read the morning paper, with yesterday's news they find it more convenient to read the evening paper, with today's news, and ninety-five per cent. of them read THE SUN. Merchants, do you not see that the readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. Would you talk to them? Would you tell them about your wares and your prices?

Then talk to the people through the advertising columns of the people's paper—THE SUN.

DIVORCE CASES

Justice Hammond Says Papers Should Not be "Sealed"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Open hearings in divorce whenever that is possible, is the plan that Justice Thomas Anderson of the supreme court of the District of Columbia would have introduced to prevent the breaking up of families. The "sealing" of the papers and the evidence in cases, he regards as the greatest provocation of divorce suits. Under the present system he contends the yoke of matrimony may be cast off with much greater ease than it is assumed.

Justice Anderson's criticism was inspired by the announcement of the decision in the Astor divorce case in New York and the added information that the evidence had been sealed by the court. His position, he pointed out, was modified when the parties brought charges that could not be substantiated or which were unfit for publication. In the first case, said the jurist, an amicable settlement was not only possible but probable and the publication of such rumors against either the husband or wife would work to their future disadvantage and might break up a reunion that the court had effected.

Justice Anderson declared that the suppression of evidence would make divorce easy for those who had money and calling for those who are poor.

MAN IS MISSING

Policemen and Firemen Search for Him

DEVERLY, Nov. 12.—To aid in the search for an aged and well known resident of this city who is missing from his home, a general fire alarm was sounded today and the firemen were ordered to join the police and members of the water works department who scoured the city during the night. The missing man is, Charles Pickett, 52 years of age, former superintendent of the water works. He left home about 5 p.m. yesterday, telling his wife that he was not feeling very well and intended to take a walk in the belief that the air would make him feel better. He failed to return and up to this forenoon nothing could be learned as to what direction he took.

CAPTAIN COY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—It was rumored last night that Captain Coy of the Yale team would not play in the game with Princeton Saturday, and that he might not play but a few minutes in the game with Harvard, owing to an injury to a knee received during secret practice yesterday. One of the Yale coaches said last night that Coy would not be in condition to play Saturday, but that everything possible was being done to get him into condition to play in the Harvard game.

People Who Buy at King's Save Money. Why?

The saving is GENERALLY A FOURTH of what you would pay elsewhere. No other store can meet our prices because no other store in Lowell does business under such favorable conditions. When you buy from us you buy direct from the makers. All the clothes we sell are made in our own workshop in New York, and consequently you save the middleman's profit in buying direct from wholesaler to purchaser. You can readily see, therefore, why we can undersell all other stores. Not alone do you get the best in fabrics, styles and tailoring but the most important factor is THE SAVING OF AT LEAST A FOURTH.

GRADE CROSSINGS

Nothing Doing in Middlesex Street

ONE MORE HEARING ON OTHER CROSSINGS

Work of Widening Billerica Street and Raising Bridge Will Start in the Spring—Registration For City Election Up to Date

City Solicitor Duncan is busy on grade crossing matters these days. He expects that there may be one more formal hearing on the crossings in School, Walker, Plain and Lincoln streets. As to these crossings, however, everything has been agreed upon, and it is expected that the work of abolishing the grade crossings, there will be begun in the spring.

In the matter of the Middlesex street crossing a commission has not been appointed by the court to take the matter up, but it is believed that the commission having to do with Plain, Walker, School and Lincoln streets will handle the Middlesex street matter.

Asked today how the Billerica street and bridge proposition was progressing, Mr. Duncan said: "The work of widening the street and raising the bridge will be begun in the early spring."

Registration by Wards

"How about your election?" asked a reporter. "Oh! I expect to slip up on that," replied Jerry.

JAIL SENTENCE

Man Was Accused of Larceny of Money

LAWRENCE, Nov. 12.—In the police court yesterday Joseph Bergeron was sentenced to four months in the house of correction on the charge of larceny of $190. This was a continued case, the defendant having cashed a check sent by a Canadian bank to another man of the same name in this city.

At the time of his arrest the defendant said that he thought the money was some that had been deposited in his name, the book for which had been lost. Judge Mahoney thought that he must have known the money was not his and imposed sentence. The defendant appealed.

NATIONAL BOARD

MEMPHIS, Nov. 12.—The national board of arbitration started work early today disposing of the sixty or more cases which it still has for disposition. Others departed today, these remaining having cases of arbitration to come before the national arbitrators.

The national board will hardly conclude its work before Saturday night as some of the remaining cases are important and each will take up considerable time in presentation.

MME. STEINHEIL WEAK

When She Took Her Place in Dock Today

Trouard Riolle Continues His Summing Up for the Prosecution—He Contended That the Burglary Story is a Fabrication—He Dwelt Particularly on the Tell-Tale Ink Stains

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Many well dressed, stylish women managed to gain entrance into the gloomy, stifling courtroom today to hear the concluding argument in the murder trial of Madame Magahoritz Steinheil, widow of the ill-fated painter.

The accused woman with features of deathly pallor walked unaided into the courtroom but her step was mechanical and her arms hung limply at her side. When she had taken her place in the dock she seemed hardly to have the strength to look about her and sat with lowered eyes like one in a dream as the were afterward found in her possession.

Mr. Riolle dwelt particularly upon the tell-tale ink stains which the two physicians who examined the injuries of Madame Steinheil claimed to have found upon her knee. During the binding of Madame Japy an inkstand in her room had been overturned and subsequently ink stains were discovered on the quilts of her bed. The prosecutor claimed that during the struggle in the step-mother's room the ink was spilled, splashing both upon the bed and upon the accused.

As the advocate proceeded increasingly severe in his denunciation of the white faced prisoner before him frequently murmurs of dissent came from the rear of the courtroom. As she heard herself described as a cold, calculating fiend with a soft exterior, Madame Steinheil bit her lips and raised her clenched hands in mute protest. At the conclusion of his description of the night scene when the widow made her false statements to the journalists the prosecutor shouted: "She can't tell the truth because she is guilty," whereupon the defendant half rose from her seat and the ink back having fallen in her hands. He insisted that the evidence proved that the apparent illness of the accused after the commission of the crime had been simulated and that subsequent developments had confirmed the suspicion that she had acted with hypocrisy throughout. It was when the police had definitely rejected her story of the burglar and burglars, and she saw her lover Bordereau slipping from her net because the mystery was unsolved, the prosecutor said, that Madame Steinheil in desperation tried to accuse innocent persons. He added: "She wished to avoid the probability of a non-suit in her favor because such an outcome of the case would not satisfy Bordereau and so unhesitatingly she placed the accusing pearl in the pocket of her servant, Confard."

A dramatic incident occurred as the prosecutor concluded his resume of the evidence against the defendant, M. Aubin jumping to his feet, exclaimed: "Have you upon your conscience name the accomplices at whom you have been hinting throughout your argument? Were they Marietta and Alexandre Wolf?"

The spectators who have watched eagerly for just such bits of play, burst forth in applause. Judge De Valles threatened to clear the courtroom and this warning was effective. When quiet was restored M. Trouard Riolle said, "I decline to answer."

Neither Mrs. Wolf, the cook, nor her son Alexandre was in the courtroom today and there was a rumor afloat that they might be arrested tonight.

HAROLD VANDERBILT AND MISS SEARS, HIS FIANCEE, AT CUP RACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Formal announcement is expected to be made almost any day of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Sears of Boston to Harold S. Vanderbilt, son of William K. Vanderbilt and brother of the Duchess of Marlborough. Society has been talking of the forthcoming engagement for several months, and the young couple are together every big society event. This photograph of them was taken at the recent Vanderbilt cup race. Miss Sears is the most ardent lover of outdoor sports among the younger women of the society set of New York and New England. There is no feat in the line of such sports that she will not attempt. She has no equal among women as a daring rider to hounds, an expert tennis player, clever swimmer, automobile driver and even plays polo. Harold Vanderbilt is a brother of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and a son of Mrs. O. J. P. Belmont.

THE PURE DRUG SHOW TO BE HELD IN NEW YORK

Next week certainly will not be complete unless Mr. Hood sends the beautiful show of his products now in Dows' window at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets, said an experienced demonstrator yesterday. "I don't know when I have seen a display that impressed me so favorably. It seems somehow quietly, yet convincingly, to convey the idea of the utmost neatness and care in every process of manufacture, and of the greatest possible merit in every article.—If Made by Hood, It's Good."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—History of the ice industry along the Kennebec river in Maine was taken up at today's session of the trial of the American Ice Co. for alleged violation of the anti-monopoly law, the state aiming to show that control of the Maine supply was used by the company accused to restriction of output and deterioration of the industry.

Augustus Herker of Gardiner, Me., a veteran in the ice trade, testified that in 1889 the American Ice Co. secured control of the ice houses along the Kennebec and that since that time many of the houses have been burned session of the trial of the American Ice down or abandoned to decay.

Brown, a colored youth of this city, observed his 21st birthday today by appearing in the Middlesex county superior criminal court at East Cambridge and pleading guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree in causing the death of Laura Bland, a 16 year old colored girl at West Newton last February. ## BOY GANG HELD DARING ATTEMPT

Members Are Charged To Wreck a Train at Mansfield With Larceny

BATH, Me., Nov. 12.—Roy Boucher of Five Islands, who was held in $1000 Wednesday, accused with Fred M. Wentworth of Belfast with breaking and entering the home of aged Mrs. Emily F. Rowell, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of breaking and entering the store of Charles Chappelle on October 24. Boucher has been the acknowledged leader of a gang of small boys whom the police believe responsible for many breaks during the summer.

He is 16 years of age, and three of his companions were arraigned with him on the same charge. They were Harold C. Kingsbury, aged 16; Francis W. Holmes, aged 13, and Augustus B. King, aged 15, all pleading guilty. Michael Loydon, aged 13, was arraigned later in the day on the charge of breaking and entering the store of B. Olin. They were held in $200 each.

Boucher and Wentworth, who confessed to the break at Mrs. Emily Rowell's, were committed to Auburn jail in default of bail. The other boys will be allowed a reasonable time to obtain their bonds. The police now believe that they have broken up the gang of small boys who have been emulating the heroes of sensational literature as shown by the cave just outside the city at Stony Cade where they had their rendezvous. Many of the articles stolen from the Chappelles were found there.

STEVE PHILBIN, YALE'S FIND OF 1909 SEASON, MAKING A KICK FOR GOAL

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 12.—Now that the real championship football games are at hand the work of the players is being watched more closely than ever. In fact, it is on the play of the men in these games that the experts select the material for an all American team. While the Yale-Princeton, Harvard-Yale games will no doubt furnish several for the all star team, there is one modest, big boned youth named Stephen Philbin, who is counted upon to do big things for Yale in both the Princeton and Harvard football games. If injury does not overtake him, who is at present assured of a place on the team. No man on the Blue squad has Improved so much in all round play since last year as this same sterling halfback, who plays without any flourish, because he believes in driving hard all the time and getting on the road to a touchdown with a bound. He is easily the equal of Coy in line breaking and broken field running. And he gets there by hard work, which included a close study of the game and sensible experiments in many hard struggles. There are few players on the gridiron today who can equal Philbin's "straight arm" interference that bowls over a player just when the latter believes he has the flying man within his grasp. When Yale's new star dashes through a broken field he leaves a crooked line of opposing players in his wake. The fallen idols look as if they did not know exactly what they had tried to tackle. They are not injured, because Philbin is too scientific to do them harm, but they are so thoroughly put out of the running that there is nothing left for them to do but struggle to their feet and try to do better next time. All Yale hails the well timed arrival of Coy with great joy. With Philbin and Coy as running mates the New Haven eleven has a back field pair that can rip things up more thoroughly than any other backs in the country, not barring even the fast representatives of Harvard.

FOOTBALL GAME

Lowell and Lawrence
Clash Tomorrow

The Lowell and Lawrence high school football teams will meet at Spaulding park tomorrow afternoon in what will undoubtedly be the greatest football game ever witnessed in this city. The rivalry between these two teams has been very keen during the past few years, but this year it is even more so.

Inasmuch as enthusiasm and good support are essential factors in games of football the high school students turned out in a body yesterday and after marching to the park cheered the team during its practice.

A big mass meeting was held at the school in the morning. Addresses were

DEADLY CURRENT ITALIAN MEDIUM

Live Wire Raised Havoc in Central Street

A live wire with current sufficient to put an elephant out of commission fell directly in front of Goodale's drug store situated at the corner of Central and Jackson streets, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and that somebody wasn't electrocuted was due to the fact that the wire did not happen to reach anybody though several had narrow escapes.

The wire was a feed tap from the feed to the trolley wire. It was strung across the street and it broke in the middle. The loose end fell on the sidewalk in front of Goodale's drug store and don't think for a moment that there wasn't something doing in that drug store.

So powerful was the current that it melted the sidewalk lights quicker than butter would melt in an oven and the whole store was lighted by the stray and deadly current. One of the young men in the store, Harry Lawlor, was in the basement at the time and he received a shock that he will be likely to remember for several moons to come.

Policemen were quickly on the scene and they kept pedestrians away from the wire that was red hot beneath its insulation until Walter Hickey and other employees of the street railway company arrived and shouldered the responsibility.

THE BELVIDERE MARKET

The spacious market at the corner of East Merrimack and Howe streets, which was formerly Walker's market, has been undergoing many changes for several weeks past. Mr. George Fairburn, the well known and popular meat and provision dealer, has refitted and refurbished the store and had it painted in Florence white, and today it is one of the most beautiful and perfectly equipped markets in New England and might rightly be called the finest in New England. All the latest appliances have been installed and everything is right up-to-date. Among the many improvements made the first to attract attention was a refrigerator with a glass top which is the original idea of Mr. George Fairburn, the owner and proprietor. The ice box is ingeniously arranged so that the cool air always having a downward tendency, sends a circulation into the lower portion of this refrigerator which is almost equal to a cold blast refrigerator. The inside is also utilized for the storage of fancy vegetables and all sorts of fruits and vegetables that need tender care. In this large refrigerator cuts of meat, game, fish and everything that would please the appetite are displayed.

There is another very carefully arranged room intact where fish will be dressed, cared for and kept in the freshest, cleanest and most practical manner.

The corned beef tank is also ingeniously arranged whereby it gets a cooling process from a mammoth refrigerator which has a capacity for several tons of beef. The meat in storage here can be passed from the refrigerator on a track system such as might be seen in wholesale stores.

Everything in and around the store looks to be as near perfection as the thorough knowledge of the meat and provision business could make it.

There is a place for everything and everything is in its place. In the center of the store as one enters, is a long marble table extending nearly the entire length of the store on which the meats, game, vegetables and other food stuffs are displayed. Yesterday was the opening day and it looked more like a grand food fair exhibition than a market.

One show window was filled with the most beautiful display of vegetables ever seen in this city and the other window was devoted to meat, game, etc. Everything was arranged in a most artistic manner.

Mr. Fairburn has engaged a number of expert meat cutters and clerks, and Mr. J. W. Henley, who was foreman for Mr. Walker for the last five years, will be Mr. Fairburn's assistant and manager of this new and up-to-date market.

Today Mr. Fairburn was kept busy receiving the congratulations of many friends and prospective customers on the elegance of his new market. This makes the third big market in our city that Mr. Fairburn owns, one being in Merrimack square, the other on upper Merrimack square, and this last one, as we stated before, at the corner of East Merrimack and Howe streets. It is a credit to Mr. Fairburn and a pleasure to our citizens to know that they can obtain everything that is in season and we might say out of season at his stores. This is certainly enterprising, and we wish Mr. Fairburn unbounded success in his new store.

Paladino, the famous Italian medium discovered by the late Cesare Lombroso, who confessed that her so called spiritualistic powers had completely mystified him, has arrived in this country and is to remain for three months under the espionage of several scientists and others who are interested in spiritualism. Such men as Professor James of Harvard and Professor Quackenbush of Columbia will attend the private seances that Mme. Paladino gives and will endeavor in every possible way to discover whether she is a trickster or is actually in control of some supernatural power. Mme. Paladino is an undersized woman about fifty years of age. Her seances have been attended by the most noted scientists of the old world, and none has been able to solve the secret of her powers.

BASKET MEETING

BY WOMEN'S BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The annual basket meeting of the Merrimack River Association of the Women's American Baptist Home Mission society was held in the Fifth Street Baptist church yesterday. The forenoon session opened with a devotional service led by Mrs. Edna A. Thorne of this city. Welcome was extended by Mrs. J. M. Fuller of the Fifth Street church. The director of the session was Mrs. E. M. Lake of Lawrence, who spoke on "Our Pleasure and Our Purpose."

Reports from various circles were then read. A half-hour conference was held, several topics being discussed by the delegates present. The lines pursued were: "Helpful Suggestions," "Where We Find Difficulties," "Our Change of Headquarters" and "Our Literature."

At 11:30 o'clock a business session came, followed by a solo, given by Mrs. Bernice E. Barrows. Mrs. E. R. Christopher, state vice president, addressed the gathering and adjournment took place for luncheon at 12:15 o'clock.

At the beginning of the afternoon session Mrs. Lewis A. Grass of Meriden led the gathering in a praise service, this being followed by unfinished business. Junior sessions were taken up at this session, and Miss Glenna Pratt recited and sang. The conference which followed was led by Mrs. Bernice E. Barrows, junior vice president of Eastern Massachusetts. Miss Alice Wilham of this city gave a solo. The main address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. N. N. Bishop, district secretary for New England. The day's session closed at 3:45 o'clock with the singing of a consecration hymn and benediction.

The clerk of the session was Mrs. F. N. Smith of East Haverhill, and the pianist was Mrs. Julian N. Brown of this city. Mrs. Grace M. Harnden of this city acted as literature clerk.

A Long Coat Note for Women

We have just received some rather surprising winter coats, full length, single or double breasted, and of fine quality kersey and lined throughout—the quality that goes into higher priced garments.

But we shall charge exactly $12.50 apiece for these coats because they are made up from short lengths which the maker had in his shop. Otherwise they would be $16.50.

Women's Rain Coats Reduced—Somebody's excess stock—bought too many styles and the raincoats are now ours.

$12.50 Raincoats, $9.98—Rubberized silk and shower proof cloth. Semi-fitted, high roll collar.

The American woman has adopted the pretty custom with well-defined limitations and it has become a necessary adjunct of her wardrobe. Our line of Kimonos, made of silk, crepe and flannelette, is far superior to anything shown in other stores and is confined to us. Call and see our Kimonos before buying elsewhere, as we know our goods will prove what we say here.

ANOTHER REGIMENT

Will be Ordered to Cairo Today in Case of Outbreak

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Gov. Dineen retired at 3 o'clock this morning after directing acting Adjutant General Dickson at Springfield to arrange for rushing a second regiment to Cairo early today in case another violent outbreak of rioting following the night of terror in which two men were lynched by a mob of Illinois citizens. Just before he went to bed the governor conversed over the telephone with Deputy Sheriff Woodward of Alexander county at Cairo. Deputy Woodward told him that the mob still was restless, though greatly reduced in numbers.

"Will one regiment of troops be enough?" Gov. Dineen asked Woodward. "The Carbondale company," he explained, "will be there early this morning, at least five other companies will reach there before 9 o'clock and the entire regiment will be on the ground by noon at the latest. I have all plans arranged for the immediate transportation of another regiment in the morning."

The governor asked the sheriff if the saloons had been ordered closed and when informed that saloons run by the white inhabitants were still open and that many in the mob were drinking freely he suggested that all be closed at once and be kept closed until danger had passed.

Deputy Woodward informed him that Mayor Parsons and the chief of police had not issued such orders and that they were being guarded at their homes because the infuriated mob had threatened them, with harm. The citizens were angered because the local authorities had permitted James and Alexander to get away after the killing of Miss Pelley.

Governor Dineen told Adjutant Gen. Scott that he expected to cancel his engagement to speak in Chicago tonight and that he probably would leave for Springfield at 11 o'clock today or as soon as he had been informed of conditions at Cairo by Sheriff Davis.

"This affair," said the governor, "is not as serious thus far as it might have been but it is serious enough now and a disgrace to the state of Illinois. This disgrace will be more keenly felt by the citizens of the commonwealth because it is the second time within the last few years that lynching and riots have stained the fame of the state."

"Troops are essential in such disturbances and I hope that the presence of the militia at Cairo today will bring the unorganized mob to its senses."

"Though the protection of the men lynched was not under my control no one can regret the affair more than I do," said Mayor Parsons today.

"I do not think that any blame attaches to any official. The entire community was worked up to such a pitch that no other termination was possible. I believe that the majority of the citizens are pleased at the turn of affairs and while they deplore the disgrace of the city and state they believe that the result will be salutary. There has not been an official execution in Cairo for 10 or 15 years and yet the city has had its share of murders. Juries have failed to convict in homicide cases or have convicted for minor degrees and it has been possible for murderers to escape. In fact murder in Cairo I regret to say, has been tolerably safe against crime that has so long been suppressed has found vent and I believe that Cairo will be peaceful and law-abiding hereafter."

NEGRO'S HEART

WAS CUT TO PIECES AND TAKEN AS SOUVENIRS

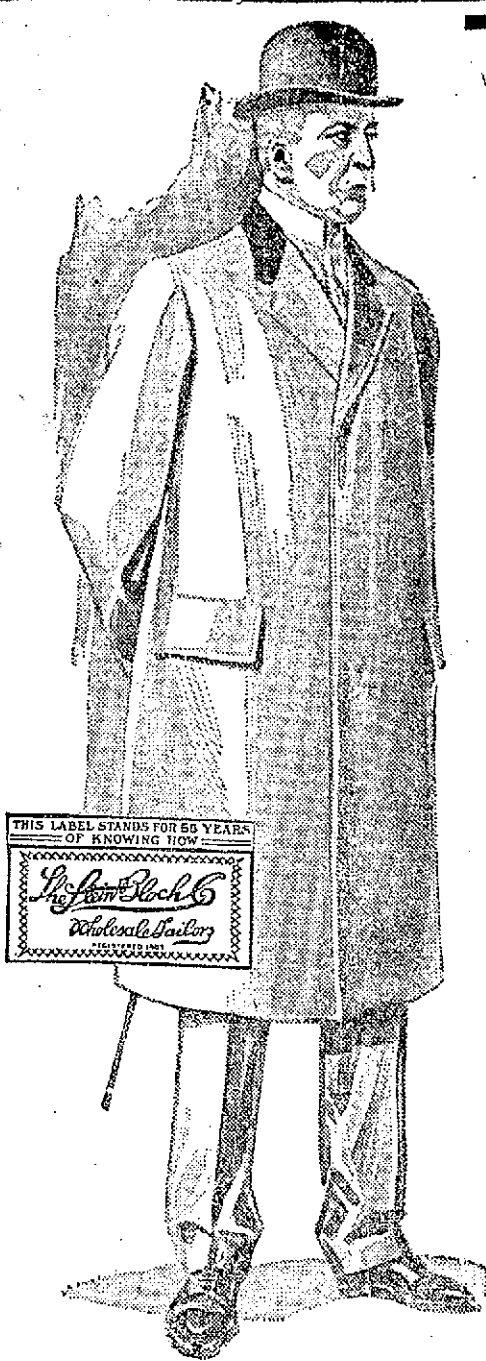

CAIRO, Ill. Nov. 12.—Cairo was quiet this morning after a night of violence such as few cities have experienced. The mob dispersed and only an occasional watcher for the negro Alexander could be seen lurking about the streets. Alexander was secreted in some place the mob could not discover. The confession of the negro, James, implicating Alexander in the horrible crime of murder and assault upon Miss Anna Pelley makes him a much wanted negro and if his hiding place is discovered it may take a regiment of soldiers to protect him. When James, the negro lynched, was captured at Belknap, and while he was being brought to Cairo he absolutely refused to make a confession, but when the rope was around his neck and he was given his last chance to make a statement, he said:

"I killed her, but Alexander took the lead." Many in the great mass of people had become impatient during the effort to induce the negro to make a statement and there were demands for work.

"We don't want to hear him; string him up; kill him, burn him," were frequently heard. The crowd pressed forward and the rope which had been thrown over the steel arch which was in the hands of women was pulled up and the body jerked a few feet from the ground when it broke and came tumbling down. The mob by this time had become so impatient that they fell upon the negro and riddled him with bullets. The body was dragged more than a mile through the streets to the spot where the murder was committed and burned. Before the fire was started the negro's head was cut off and placed on one end of a pole which was stuck in the ground. The heart was taken out, cut up in small pieces and passed among the men as souvenirs. Pieces of the rope with which he was hanged, after being soaked in the negro's blood, were also handed about.

This morning there was nothing left of the negro's body but a pile of bones but large crowds of women visited the spot where he died.

The lynching of Henry Salzman, the white man, for the brutal murder of his wife on Aug. 15 last was a rebuke

"Some Class to Those

Stein-Bloch Coats"

That's what the young fellows say—and they know.

With so many different overcoat models, it's hard to decide which kind it is best to buy—especially, if you can afford only one.

When all's said and done, there's only one Coat that is suitable for every occasion—the regular knee-length overcoat of dark color.

Overcoat styles come and go—sometimes they go too quickly—but the knee-length regular overcoat is doing business all the time, and is good every season.

This year the skirts may be a little longer, the shoulders and chests broader and the back either more shapely or boxy than last year—but in the main the style is the same.

Then, also, if economy is the watchword, the overcoat of black, blue or dark oxford lasts a season or two longer—you don't tire of it so quickly as a fancy color.

But, good tailoring is necessary to give distinction to a dark overcoat—so few know the difference in fabrics, even on close inspection—but the well tailored coat speaks for itself.

Our Stein-Bloch coats are saying: "Come to the SMART CLOTHES SHOP for overcoats of class."

Splendid Winter Overcoats at $15.00

Not Stein-Bloch at this price, but finely tailored coats at that—good all wool kerseys, in black and blue, dark oxford, melton and fancy striped chevots. Sizes include shorts, stouts and longs, as well as regular sizes.

Dressy Winter Overcoats at
$20.00

At this price we think we have the best kersey coat in town at the price—in black and blue—good, beefy fabrics, finely tailored; also vicunas in black and fancy chevots in dark oxfords with faint stripe.

Stein-Bloch Overcoats at

While Stein-Bloch prices begin at $20, the $25 range gives a chance for a better choice of fabrics. Kerseys in black and blue, vicunas in black and kerseys, and chevots in fancy weaves, and many models make this showing of fine overcoats one worth any man's time to see.

If you want more luxury—fine, soft vicuna fabrics and silk linings, combined with exquisite tailoring—you can pay as high as $40—and get value.

Salzman killed his wife. She recovered enough to say that he did it, before she died. A great crowd of women were in the mob and they loudly called for Salzman's execution. His body was left lying in the street until morning when it was claimed by his father.

Salzman begged piteously for his life but he was jeered. With the rope around his neck he stated that his sister killed his wife, which so enraged the mob that they did not want to let him pray but cooler heads prevailed and he was allowed a moment's respite.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Boy Had a Wonderful
Escape From Death

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—George Callahan, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Callahan of 55 Haverhill street, Charlestown, had a wonderful escape from death about 1 yesterday afternoon while playing on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad freight yard, between Main street and Rutherford avenue Charlestown, when he fell and was crushed by a moving train.

The little fellow was carried by Thomas McCarthy and a member of the train crew to a shop on Mishawum street. He was then removed to the Reel hospital.

At the hospital the physicians found a compound fracture of the left leg, contusions and abrasions of the right leg, a crushed ankle and multiple lacerations about the body.

Mrs. Callahan, the mother of the boy, visited the hospital and was assured the injuries would not prove fatal. The doctors told her the boy's ankle was badly crushed and that it would be necessary to operate on him. She implored the physicians to save the foot.

ling Paris green and by shooting himself in the left breast with a 32 calibre revolver. Dumont occupied a room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Betty of 414 Auburn street.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Betty heard a groan and going to Dumont's room found him lying on the floor holding his hands to his left side. She sent for Dr. R. W. Weeks, who had Dumont removed to his father's home at 357 Wilson street. His stomach was relieved of the poison, after which Dr. Weeks probed for the bullet without success. The bullet penetrated the lungs and the man was bleeding internally. His condition is critical.

Dumont is said to have been a man of steady habits, who had accumulated a substantial sum of money, and the cause of the attempt upon his life is a mystery. He had not been working for two weeks, but his idleness was voluntary.

EVERY WOMAN CAN HAVE LUXURIANT, FASCINATING HAIR

Easy to Stop Hair Falling Out, and Dandruff Also.

No one doubts that it is the duty of every woman to look as charming as possible. Every woman knows why she wants to be beautiful and attractive. So there is little need to discuss reasons in this article.

A woman with scant hair, dull and lifeless, has lost half her charm. How many times have we heard the expression that "the crowning glory of a woman is her hair."

Parisian Sage, the scientific and tonic, will cause hair to grow. It will turn harsh, withered hair into lustrous and healthily luxuriant hair in a few days.

It is a most delightful hair dressing that kills the dandruff germs, stops falling hair and eradicates dandruff in two weeks, or your money back.

Go to any drugist in America or to Carter & Sherburne, and buy a large 50 cent bottle on the money back plan. Don't take no for an answer.

SUBSTITUTE FOR COTTON MAY BE EVOLVED.

The world is waiting for a proper substitute for cotton. The supply is deficient, the price utterly too high for the people who have to work for low wages. A substitute of some kind must be found, and we are confident it will be found. When he supply of rags for paper became too small to meet the demand, the experts set their wits to work on the problem of finding a substitute. They soon produced wood pulp which while not as good as paper stock made from rags, still it serves the purpose very well, and rags are no longer considered the main factor in the manufacture of paper.

Necessity is the mother of invention and it is quite probable that a substitute for cotton will soon be produced so that neither the speculators nor the planters will be able to practice extortion on the manufacturers and indirectly on the consumers as they have been doing.

Down at Brookfield, Mass., there has already been established a factory for manufacturing towels out of flax, and so far as the experiment has gone it is most satisfactory. Flax could be grown extensively even in many of the northern states and thus enough might be produced to hold the price of cotton at a normal figure.

The high price of cotton from whatever cause it has been boosted up to fifteen cents, is, therefore, destined to bring about a revolution not only in the production of cotton but also in the production of a substitute for cotton and the cultivation of the fibre in fields where it has never been grown before.

There is no doubt at all that the speculators are mainly responsible for the present high price of raw cotton. They have seized upon every circumstance or cause that might be used as a lever to advance the price, such for example as the report of a short crop, the failure of the crop elsewhere and the cornering of the market to an extent that compelled the manufacturers to pay exorbitant prices or else shut down their factories. The manufacturers have countered in a mild way by organizing a movement for general curtailment but with such a demand for manufactured goods, there can be no curtailment that would affect the price of raw cotton to any great extent. The manufacturers expect that a curtailment would benefit them in two ways, to wit, first, to bring down the price of raw cotton and second, to increase the price of the manufactured product. There is a very general belief that the day of cheap cotton has gone by. It is true we may seldom if ever see cotton down to six cents, but on the other hand it is not at all likely to remain long in the neighborhood of fifteen cents.

The cotton planters have combined to shorten their crops in order to keep up the price. That was their first step. So firmly were they bent on this object that some whose crop was more abundant than they anticipated actually burned a certain number of bales. That was several years ago.

The crop this year was shorter than the planter wished it to be, for they have felt a demand for the staple that caused them to wish their crop had been much heavier. As a result it is expected that next year's crop will be heavier than ever before.

The high price has led to an increase in the cost of production, because the labor employed has demanded a share of the large profits of the planter. Moreover, the supply of plantation labor is steadily decreasing and no substitute can be found to do equally good work for anything like the same wages. That is a permanent condition that will tend to increase the cost of production.

It is to be regretted that this country does not produce nearly enough cotton to supply the home consumption and as a result a considerable amount is imported. Last year this country imported about 80,000,000 pounds of foreign grown cotton valued at $14,165,400 together with cotton "flocks" to the value of $446,264, all free of duty. Strange to say much of the cotton imported went to the south, so that we may expect the planters soon to raise the cry for a tariff on raw cotton. Should a tariff be imposed it would solidify more than any other single thing the causes that combine to increase the price of cotton.

Here then comes the opportunity for some substitute for cotton, whether it be an inferior quality of cotton from some of our colonies from Egypt, India or Japan, or whether it be flax or some other fibre yet undreamt of as suitable to take the place of cotton.

The high price of cotton has had its effect in England to a greater extent than in this country, for England does not grow her own cotton. She does, however, manufacture nearly half the cotton cloth made in the world. It is estimated that the cotton spindles of the world number 104,000,000, and the looms 1,350,000. Of these, 44,000,000 spindles and 650,000 looms are in Great Britain.

During the last three years the value of cotton imports were $175,000,000, and the value of the manufactured product $450,000,000, leaving a balance of $275,000,000 in favor of the cotton industry of England. Under such conditions, it may be assumed that England will make a great effort to have cotton grown in India and Australia to supply her manufacturers and then enable her to avoid purchasing any large part of her supply in the United States.

Thus by putting up the price excessively, the speculators and the planters may defeat their own object by forcing foreign nations to find a cheaper supply or else some proper substitute elsewhere. The whole question of cotton production is one of great national importance at the present time and one to which our government should give close attention in order first to put an end to gambling in cotton and secondly, to increase the acreage so as to meet not only the demands of the home consumer but also to meet the foreign demand for cotton at a fair price.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Kate Douglas Wiggin's play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," as a dramatization of her two Rebecca books, of which over half a million copies have already been sold. Mrs. Wiggin is now busily rehearsing the play, which will have its first appearance in Springfield on Nov. 15. The other day when the property man and some of the stage hands were called in for a conference, the children were rehearsing the first act. The wonderful Concord stagecoach (found by Mrs. Wiggin in an old barn in York county) was drawn up outside the gate, while Emma Jans, Perkles, Minnie Snelle and the others were welcoming Rebecca to Riverboro. "Say," said the property man, "you'd better hire the theatre for a year. It's a combination you can't beat, kids and horses!"

The new piece by Moreau which Mme. Bernhardt will shortly produce at her theatre, appearing herself in the principal role, is exactly what the title "Le Procès de Jeanne d'Arc," would indicate. It is almost entirely taken up with the trial of the Maid of Orleans, the whole action passing at Rouen, two of the scenes in the castle of Philippe Auguste, one in the cell of the accused, and one in the grand hall of parliament overlooking the place of execution. The great actress declares the play a masterpiece, powerful and sublime, and that it is intense joy to reveal such a work to the public. Meanwhile her own drama, written during her summer vacation and still lacking a title, will be placed in rehearsal in a few days.

Dr. John Morgan of Boston, who sold for $7,500,000 part of his copper mine holdings in the island of Jamaica, has given to his brother, Dr. E. B. Morgan of Paterson, N. J., who is in very moderate circumstances, $1,000,000, which has been accepted.

Miss Laura Drake, chairman of the educational committee of the General Federation of Women's clubs, announces the conditions of the $1500 scholarship at Oxford which the federation will award for the year beginning 1910. Each state has the privilege of submitting a candidate and in case of a tie the state which has contributed toward the scholarship will get the preference.

The ex-sultan of Turkey does not seem to be taking his exile philosophically. A writer in T. P.'s Weekly tells that some times, after sitting alone for a long time at his table, wrapped in gloomy meditations, Abdul strikes the table with his fist—a thing he had never before been in the habit of doing—and cries: "Nahel Olsun! Nahel Olsun!" (Malediction! Malediction!) Sometimes he gets his wives to draw cards and make revelations about his future, but before this operation is finished he gets up suddenly and goes away, saying: "Bachen Shell Machen Shell!" (Futility! Futility!) At times, when overcome with fatigue, he falls asleep, only to wake up with a start and run around the room as if pursued by phantoms. In fact, the deposed Turk seems to be about as unhappy as he can well be.

Theodore A. Bell, who made an unsuccessful run for governor of California on the democratic ticket at the last state election, intends to enter the race again next year.

One of the contributors to the Young Men's Christian association building fund recently raised in Boston was George S. Baldwin, who gave $500 in memory of his father, William H. Baldwin, for many years president of the Boston Christian union, an institution similar to the Young Men's Christian association. In sending his check, Mr. Baldwin wrote: "Boston needs both these great institutions and should never hesitate to furnish them with all the money they need." This was a graceful act, significant of the good will that evidently exists between the two organizations cultivating the same large and important field of service of humanity.

but the manner in which he faced with the prosecutor belied his reputation.

The witness-defendant described the "third degree" examination to which he claimed to have been subjected at the police station in Cambridge immediately after his arrest. He said that Lieut. Gordon of the Cambridge police sat close to him, facing him, and read a written confession purporting to come from Delorey, the other defendant. The police officer, according to Mantir, read the alleged confession in an exceedingly loud voice and when the witness raised his head to swear to his innocence Lieut. Gordon roughly pulled his hand down, he testified. Mantir declared that the only time he ever went to Cambridge with Delorey was once when they drove in from outside the city with a load of furniture. Peter Delorey of Somerville, the co-defendant in the trial, followed Mantir and within a few minutes had declared that his alleged confession was a "pack of lies," that he never saw Annie Mullins and that he was not with Mantir on the night of the murder. He claimed that his story to the police after his arrest in which he accused Mantir of the crime was not true and that he was lying when he told his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Delorey, that he knew of the murder. Delorey was not as cool as Mantir, and frequently contradicted himself, especially during his cross examination by District Attorney Higgins

NORTH DAKOTA

In Class by Herself for Steaming Radius

QUINCY, Nov. 12.—Official figures made public today indicate that the new battleship North Dakota in addition to being one of the three largest fighting ships afloat, an honor which she shares with her sister ship, the Delaware and the British ship Neptune, is in a class by herself so far as steaming radius is concerned. The figures compiled on her official endurance trials off the New England coast show that the North Dakota sailing at an average speed of 13 nautical miles an hour has a steaming radius of 9000 knots without re-coaling. At a 19 knots speed the big ship will be able to steam 4000 knots without replenishing her bunkers while she will also be made to cover 3000 knots without re-coaling when steaming at her maximum speed. This local steaming radius is made possible by the low consumption, the tests having demonstrated that the American built turbine engines with which the North Dakota is equipped require less fuel than do the reciprocating type.

The official figures for the three hours of the full power trial, the 24 hours at 19 knots, and the same period at 12 knots show a material saving of water used in the form of steam.

Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

Out of one hundred test cases Rexall "93" Hair Tonic gave entire satisfaction in ninety-three cases. It has been proved that it will grow hair even on bald heads, when, of course, the baldness had not existed for so long a time that the follicles, which are the roots of the hair, had not become absolutely lifeless.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The three act farce, "The Patriot," with William Collier, the inimitable comedian, was presented at the Opera House last night before a fair sized audience. Collier is well known to the theatre going public, having been seen in "A Fool and His Money" and "Caught in the Rain." While both of the latter pieces had more substance than did the farce in which he appeared last night, there was plenty of humor handed out to the audience in the latter.

In every production that Collier appears he is what might be called the "whole show." His mannerism on the stage is enough to provoke laughter, and every minute that he was behind the footlights last night his witty sayings brought forth applause.

The piece presents Collier as "Sir Augustus Plantagenet Armitage," who was brought up on the plains and in the mining camps west of the Rockies. A romantic love affair is worked out in a happy finale through a lot of adverse circumstances, interesting situations and plenty of fun.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Pop Strong	William Collier
Steve Hesterson	M. L. Hecker
Fercival Roberts	Wallace Hersert
Cassius	Frank H. Westerton
Wamboldt	Thomas Martin
Blynn	Richard Malchen
Kid Sugar	John B. Adam

"THIS WOMAN AND THIS MAN."

The new play by Avery Hopwood, "This Woman and This Man," which was first played at the Adelphi theatre, Philadelphia and which is said to be the greatest natural play written, was the fourth play of its kind of the season's successes, the first being "The Man From Home," second, "The East-West Way," third, "The House Next Door" and the fourth "This Woman and This Man." All the above plays were written or translated by American authors and in the majority of cases the writers have not reached the age of thirty. In fact the most of the plays produced the past season were written by young men just out of college.

Mr. Avery Hopwood is a young man in the early twenties and to have written a play dealing with a theme that has been proclaimed a life drama of the most intense interest with one of the most powerful lessons ever portrayed on the American stage is an accomplishment that many an older writer would like to have to his credit. Miss Minnie Victorson, the star, in speaking to Mr. Hopwood of the play asked him "Where he had gotten his material." It seemed impossible for her to believe that one so young could have conceived so strong and natural a play. Mr. Hopwood's ready reply was "I get my ideas by conversing with clever people like you."

"THE CANDY SHOP."

The summer's run of "The Candy Shop" at the Studebaker theatre, Chicago, is said to have collected an avoidable toll from its players. Since the opening local performance of the gale in the Western city in June, William Rock danced and sang, away 6 pounds in weight; Maud Fulton, 7; Frank Lalor, 11; Lucy Weston, 7; W. J. McCarthy, 4; Douglas Stevenson, 6; Florence Morrison, 10; Louis Harrison, 10; Mlle. Rayo, 7; Lillian Rice, 2; Angie Wehners, 3 and dear old Mrs. Annie Tompkins 4. The chorus girls of the company lost an average of 4 pounds each, or an aggregate of almost 200 pounds. "The Candy Shop" comes here for a matinee and evening performance on Saturday, November 13, at the Opera House. It comes intact direct from the Tremont theatre where it attracted crowded audiences all the present autumn and where good New England beans and buckwheat cakes repaired some of the players' tissue lost in Chicago.

FRANK LALOR
In "The Candy Shop"

HELEN GRAYCE.

No more attractive plays than "When We Were Twenty-One" Monday afternoon and "In the Palace of the King" at night, could possibly have been selected to open the engagement of Miss Helen Grayce at the Opera House commencing Monday. Both are appreciated wherever the better class of drama is popular, and they promise to be enjoyed and played in a manner that will establish a new record in local amusements. They will be followed by "The Toast of the Town" Tuesday afternoon and that fascinatingly odd play, "The House of a Thousand Candles" Tuesday evening. Other bills for the remainder of this unusual engagement are: "The Pilgrimage," "The Knight of the Shovel," "The Bishop's Carriage," "Secret Orders," "The Marriage of William Ashe" and "Thelma." The roster of the organization includes Rogers Barker, Edmund Abbey, J. Sydney Macey, Gavin Harris, George P. Randall, Lynn Osborne, W. S. Kost, Wm. Kohman, Josephine Fox, Charlotte Downing, May Waldron and Dorothy Lane. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Another well balanced bill is on parade at Hathaway's theatre this week. The array of interesting acts will surely command the attention of lovers of real variety. James Kennedy, a popular favorite here, appears in his tabloid comedy called "Jack Swift." He is assisted in the presentation by a clever company of actors. Another act which cannot fail to please is "The New School Teacher," given by those rattle for fun and music, the Avon Comedy Four. Both of these acts will be found to headline timber.

The other acts offered are good, too. Among them are: Les Lyons, & Allen, in a sprightly dancing novelty; Sprague & Dixon, in general fun; Do-herty and Harlowe, in catchy travesties; Peter F. Baker, dialectician; the unusual engagement are: "The Pilgrimage," "The Knight of the Shovel," "The Bishop's Carriage," "Secret Orders," "The Marriage of William Ashe" and "Thelma." The roster of the organization includes Rogers Barker, Edmund Abbey, J. Sydney Macey, Gavin Harris, George P. Randall, Lynn Osborne, W. S. Kost, Wm. Kohman, Josephine Fox, Charlotte Downing, May Waldron and Dorothy Lane. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

THEATRE VOYONS

The Theatre Voyons offers today one of the best and most deserving headliners of the season in "The Prodigal Son." This picture tells the biblical story of the same name in a manner that brings its lesson home to everyone. The second feature, "From Cabin Boy to King" is a fine melodramatic picture novel in plot and full of surprising and interesting situations. Two illustrated songs are sung in an unapproachable manner by Jack Manchester and Mrs. Bales.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

If last night's big audience at the Academy is to be taken as a criterion, in Kenney and Hollis, the management has two comedians whose every action carries with it an appeal to the risibilities, and only two more days remain to give you a chance to see this clever team of mirth makers. Geo. Wilson, also proved himself an adept at funniness, and his beautiful tenor voice was heard to advantage. The picture part of the program was exceptionally good.

STAR THEATRE

At the Star theatre, clean, warm and cosy, for an admission of five cents, "the biggest and best show in Lowell" can be seen, consisting of two vaudeville acts, profusely illustrated songs and entirely new motion pictures. The motion picture program was changed this afternoon. Large audiences, made up in a great measure by women, attended the afternoon performance.

He said that if that course were decided upon by the defendant attorneys the supreme court might grant a writ of certiorari in view. Mr. Gompers said, of the "generally accepted opinion that this case ought to be brought to the highest court of the United States in order that the principles involved may be tested."

The speaker was doubtful whether the principles involved could be properly brought before the court by writ of habeas corpus.

"Either we have the right of free speech and free press or we have not," said Mr. Gompers, "and we want the court to say so. Whether we will go to jail I do not know. I have an abiding faith in the justice of our cause and I can only express the hope that the higher courts of our land will immortalize themselves by the reiteration of the magna charter and the constitution of the United States. I know of no case in which the principles of equal justice, of constitutional rights and human liberty have been involved of equal importance since the abolition of black slavery."

IN POLICE COURT

Springfield Youth Was Caught Entering Store

Frank Demaras, aged 20 years and claiming Springfield as his home, was caught in the act of entering the store of Theodoras Kyraakos at 596 Merrimack street late last night by Patrolman Jeremiah Dooley. In the arrest of Demaras the police feel confident that they have a clever workman who might have entered many local places, but for the fact that he was detected when he was.

When searched at the police station it was found that he had two bunches of keys, there being about 25 keys of various descriptions in both bunches.

While Patrolman Dooley was passing through upper Merrimack street his attention was attracted by the sound of some person trying to insert a key in a lock. The officer went to the doorway from which the sound came and was just in time to see Demaras taking a key out of the lock of the door of Kyraakos' store.

Demaras was arraigned in court this morning on a complaint charging him

Sick or Drunk?
Patrolman Matthew McCann found John J. Kelly sitting on the steps of the old Boston & Maine depot last Sunday night. The man seemed to be in a stupor and his answers to questions put to him by the officers were such that he was sent to the police station, where he was booked for drunkenness. Later the man was sent to the city farm.

This morning he appeared in court and entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. Patrolman McCann said that he could not swear that the man was drunk. He said that Kelly seemed to be in a stupor. The testimony offered by Patrolman McCann was corroborated by Patrolman John Sheridan. Kelly, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was subject to sick spells. He said that "he contracted malaria in the south and that from time to time it bothered him. He said that he had tried to get to the city farm to receive treatment but was told by some nurse that the only way to get there was to get arrested. He claimed that at the time he was arrested he had not touched a drop of liquor."

The court after considering the case asked him if allowed to go would he do so and he said "Yes."

Drunken Offenders
Fred Valley, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to five months in jail. Martin Kierce, James B. Beattie, and Annie Mullen were each sentenced to four months in jail. There were two $2 drunks.

THE HOYT SALE

Completed by Conant & Co., at Noon Today

Mr. E. B. Conant finished the sale of the furnishings of the Hoyt residence at 12.30. It was a big job for one auctioneer, but Mr. Conant disposed of the 1114 lots in remarkably short time. He did not dwell long on anything but nevertheless did a great deal of talking, describing the articles in a plain, brief, but very expressive manner. The bidding today was very brisk and it was the general opinion that many articles sold for more than they are worth.

The big hall clock, with a few other lots, was sold to Boston parties. The clock went for $150.

Yesterday's sale lasted six hours and 20 minutes and during that time 500 catalogued lots of household goods were sold. The auctioneer, Mr. Conant, started at ten o'clock sharp and did not finish until 4.20 in the afternoon. The amount realized on the 500 lots was about $6600.

There were a great many interested buyers and while Mr. Conant succeeded in getting good prices he made good time and not for a second did he allow interest in the sale to lag. First he tackled the attics and from there he went to the second floor where the bedrooms were taken in order. Mirrors and pictures were sold in quick succession and a chamber set that cost $415 went for $77.50. Interest in the sale increased when the series of paintings on the hall on the second floor were reached. The paintings included some expensive landscapes by Phelps, Vinton and Brewster. "The Hunt" by Vinton, brought $105; "The Valley," by Phelps, $20; "Fisherman's Wharf in York River, Me.," $20; "The Brook," by Phelps, $17; "An Early German Village," by Phelps, $15; "The Alps," by Phelps, $11; "Wood Gatherers in the German Beech Woods," by Vinton, $10; "The Thunderstorm," by Phelps, $10; "The Matterhorn," by Phelps, $10; "Peace and Its Environment," by Brewster, $10.

An antique Iran Ferahan rug sold for $50, and an antique Calistan brought $24, and an Afghan rug, $35.

Mrs. Vandenberg purchased many of the articles, evidently with a view to retaining them for continued use in the house, which she purchased at Wednesday's auction.

The afternoon sale included a number of important items, such as the furnishings of the reception room, living room and library. The books were disposed of without difficulty at fairly good prices. The portrait of Mr. Hoyt, by Lawson, was sold, without much contest, to F. B. Shedd, the business associate of the late Mr. Hoyt.

YALE STUDENTS

Anxious About Captain Coy's Condition

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 12.—The condition of Captain Coy of the Yale team is occasioning much anxiety to the student body and Yale supporters in general. The coaches insist that Coy's illness is not serious enough to prevent his getting into the game tomorrow, though he is not expected to play the entire game. The heat today caused the coaches and trainers to curtail the signal practice which was held behind closed gates on the field. The makeup of the team has not been decided upon and probably will not be definitely settled until the morning before the game. The back field will, it is thought, be without the services of Philbin at the start, his going into the game depending in a large measure upon the showing made by Princeton early in the game. Other than Captain Coy, the members of the team are in good physical condition and excellent spirits.

PRESIDENT TAFT, SENATOR ROOT AND EDUCATOR WHOM THEY HONOR.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Attended Installation of Dr. Shanklin as President of Wesleyan

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Nov. 12.—President Taft came to New England today to find a welcome as demonstrative as many during his long period of travel. The president's visit to Middletown was primarily to attend the installation of Dr. William A. Shanklin as president of Wesleyan university. The city, however, took to itself a large share of honor and prepared an elaborate military and civic parade in which Mr. Taft participated. Vice President Sherman came with Mr. Taft from Washington on board the car Mayflower. The party arrived at 3:30 a. m. Shortly before six o'clock this evening President Taft leaves for Hartford to dedicate the new state armory there and to lead the state ball in the new building tonight.

The Wesleyan installation ceremonies were held this morning in Middlesex theatre and President Taft's address which he delivered extemporaneously came next to last on the long program. Eminent educators, university and college presidents from all sections of the country attended. The fact that Dr. Shanklin came from the west to take charge of an old eastern university had much to do with calling out a large representation from the eastern colleges as an evidence of hospitable welcome. President Hadley of Yale, Dr. Harris, Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Senator Root and Stephen Olin were among the speakers at the ceremonies of installation.

President Taft appeared in cap and gown to deliver his address and was followed by President Shanklin, who delivered a formal inaugural address.

Senator Root spoke but briefly and confined himself almost wholly to an appreciation and tribute to Dr. Shanklin. He declared it augured well for Wesleyan that the president of the United States should be present at the installation of the new head of the old institution to give his countenance, to extend his felicitations and to extend to the university hopes for the future.

President Taft in his address paid a tribute to the teacher as a college president and declared the idea that the proper man to lead an institution of learning was one who "knew the value of a dollar and how to get it." As all the others speakers, the president's address was one of the most practical and put on the moral board which formed a part of the program. The president said that after the many words of congratulation and felicitations which had come from the representatives of so many colleges and universities and from men who had known Dr. Shanklin a great many years, he felt as though he was uttering an all too plain word.

"It has not been my good fortune," he said, addressing Dr. Shanklin, "to have known you long. I remember that when we met before I was trying to teach the people how to use their judgment. You will remember that I was talking then and it seems to me that I have been talking ever since. Therefore, if there is any lack of that polished eloquence which have characterized what has been said here today in what I may have to say, you will understand it from what you saw at that time."

"A comparison has been made here today of the powers which you will exercise as president of Wesleyan and which I may exercise as president of the United States. I have had some experience in college government in an incidental way and I want to assure you that the powers which you will exercise are such as you choose to exercise. And it is well that it should be understood as advocating a change in the constitution of the United States. It is excellent. But in the control of institutions like this in order to work out its destiny and its purpose great power should be vested in its president."

The president spoke of the great influence that the college president has in shaping the careers of young men who are to exercise such an important influence upon the future life of their country. He spoke also of the college spirit, a thing hard to define, he declared, but which, taking its form and influence largely from the personal character and influence of the head of the institution stands through life to men who have come under its influence as a restraint from evil and an inspiration for good.

"There is nothing," continued the president, "which prompts a man to endeavor to be a proper citizen in his life as the desire to stand up among the men with whom he went to college, with whom he developed from youth to manhood in the same class and under the same influence with him."

The president referred briefly to the discussion which has raged from time to time as to the advantages of large and small colleges. In the small colleges, he said, the president has the great advantage of a closer personal touch with the student body and after observation of the growth of the character of the young men for whom he is in such large sense responsible.

"I appreciate the desire to increase every class in a university," continued the president, "the desire to say that this year's freshman class is larger than last year's. While it may give pride for the moment it seriously increases the burden of college administration and brings about the necessity of a search for money to meet the added expense.

"The college president must be a man of executive ability. He must have the power of selecting men for the work they are to do. And I submit that unless he is a teacher and understands all of the teaching that is to be done he is not fit to build up a faculty to do the teaching."

"I congratulate Wesleyan as having chosen a president who in every way fills the measure I have applied."

It was after the president had spoken that the honorary degrees were conferred.

CAR EXPLODED

While Practicing for the Atlanta Handicap

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—Perfect weather greeted the crowd at the speedway today. A feature of the program was the grand handicap restricted to cars which took the New York Atlanta reliability run under the auspices of the New York Herald and the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution state contest. The longest race was a free for all at fifty miles.

A Pope-Toldeo car exploded in practice on the bay stretch today and Driver H. J. Kilpatrick and his mechanic, R. Church, were thrown from the track. Both escaped with slight injuries. Kilpatrick was thrown 15 feet over the outer embankment of the speedway but landed in a pile of brush. The car burned up.

SLICK WORKMEN

Do Interesting Stunts With Plate Glass

A crew of six workmen from C. B. Colburn's, in charge of Patrick McLaughlin, played a continuous performance in the vicinity of Merrimack square this morning and kept hundreds of "rubber-necks" from their business.

They were engaged at taking out broken plate glass windows from Kilpatrick's store and Nelson's department store and replacing them with new windows, and the work of taking out the old windows proved every bit as interesting to the crowd that watched them as the work of putting in the new ones, for they removed the big windows without breaking them further and it is assumed that the glass thus taken out will be recut and used again.

It was most interesting to watch the deftness with which they handled the dangerous and frail windows, and as one spectator remarked, "They'd make fine burglars," for they cut out the fronts of the two big stores in 15 minutes and without the slightest noise. The glass placed in Kilpatrick's window is 75 by 105 inches, while that in Nelson's is 105 by 112 inches, two remarkably big lights of plate glass.

TO PREVENT INFANT MOTILITY

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 12.—The second day's session of the conference on the prevention of infant mortality opened here this afternoon with Holmer Polls of New York acting as chairman. The session was devoted to a discussion on the institutional prevention of infant mortality and a strong plea was made for the establishing of homes for mothers and their children where both could receive proper care.

SECY. BALLINGER

Wants Water Power Rights Conserved

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Taking time by the forelocks Secy. Ballinger today issued an order for the conservation of the water power rights on public lands. Without waiting for decisive legislation to learn what will eventually be done with many lands valuable for sites for water power, the secretary withdrew from disposition over eight thousand acres of such land located in the states of Montana, Idaho, Colorado, Washington and Wyoming and New Mexico.

This land now being in the public domain will probably be affected by legislation to be enacted during the next congress.

The president referred briefly to the discussion which has raged from time to time as to the advantages of large and small colleges. In the small colleges, he said, the president has the great advantage of a closer personal touch with the student body and after observation of the growth of the character of the young men for whom he is in such large sense responsible.

"I appreciate the desire to increase every class in a university," continued the president, "the desire to say that this year's freshman class is larger than last year's. While it may give pride for the moment it seriously in-

Court Cases by District Attorney

Rev. Mr. Merrill's Suit Against Law and Order League and Suit Against Archbishop O'Connell on List—A Large Divorce List, With Several Lowell Cases

The November term of the superior court, without juries, will come in at the court house in Gorham street on Monday and court equity and divorce cases will be heard.

Prominent on the list of court cases are two cases of Rev. Mr. Merrill, formerly secretary of the Law and Order league, against the officials of that august body. On the list also are two cases of Quinn vs. Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston and Quinn vs. Sacred Heart School association. Both cases are from out of town.

Among the Lowell cases on the court list are the following: Johnson vs. Boston and Maine, North and Johnson for plaintiff and Trull and Wier for defendant; Harvey vs. Smith (assessment of damages) J. S. Murphy for plaintiff; Sprague adm. vs. Boston & Maine, J. B. Crawford, Trull and Wier; Morse vs. Davis, J. J. Pickman, D. J. Donahue; Boston and Maine vs. Cawley, Trull and Wier; Pratt and Devine; Lebel p. p. A. vs. Post Publishing Co. (Donahue); J. H. Gullett, Elder and Whitman; Pollard vs. Brown, ex'r. (motion for auditor) J. J. Hennessy, H. A. Brown; Watkins vs. Badger, F. E. Dunbar, J. J. Rogers, W. W. Clarke; Jones vs. Thompson, F. A. Masterson, Pratt and Devine; Wilder vs. Foye, A. S. Howard, J. J. Hennessy. In the Merrill cases Burke and Corbett and Guy O. Ham appear for the plaintiff and J. F. Owens for the defendants.

The local cases on the equity list were as follows: Lowell Co-operative bank vs. Richardson et al. Meers. Qua for the plaintiff and J. F. Owens and Melvin G. Rogers for the defendants; Morse vs. Lowell Trust Co., Rankin and Roberts, the Messrs. Hogan; Fraser adm. et al vs. Fulton, McIntire & Wilson, S. W. Stevens and J. J. Harvey. On the uncontested list the Lowell cases are as follows: Callahan vs. Callahan, McIntire & Wilson attorneys; Ayles vs. Ayles, J. J. Harvey; Moreau vs. Moreau, Messrs. Hogan; Perron vs. Perron, D. J. Donahue; MacLagan vs. MacLagan, J. J. O'Connor; Bent vs. Bent, J. J. Pickman; Bicker vs. Bicker, Messrs. Hogan; Richardson vs. Richardson, J. J. Pickman; Fuller vs. Fuller, Burke & Corbett; Bulmer vs. Bulmer, Burke & Corbett; Braun vs. Braun, S. W. Stevens; Gorton vs. Gorton, C. H. McIntire; Mills vs. Mills, McIntire & Wilson; Lindstad vs. Lindstad, McIntire & Wilson. The Lowell cases on the contested list are as follows: Foote vs. Foote, J. J. Hennessy for libellant, and Hutchinson & Smith for libellee; Heath vs. Heath, McIntire & Wilson, Messrs. Hogan; Hamer vs. Hamer, J. F.

Owens, D. J. Donahue; Pearl vs. Pearl (cross libel), Burke & Corbett, McIntire & Wilson; Kendrick vs. Kendrick, McIntire & Wilson, J. J. Harvey; Perham vs. Perham, T. J. Enright, Niles and Stevens; Sanborn vs. Sanborn, Hogan, T. G. Robbins. A Further Delay Gov. Draper having gone to New Orleans without making an appointment to the bench to succeed Judge Bishop, no appointment can be made until his return, two weeks hence, and thus the Lowell session will not be resumed for several weeks. It was expected that Lawyer Vaughan, who was named for the place just before the governor went away, would accept the position, but at the last moment he declined.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION
BOSTON, Nov. 12.—A further extension of gymnasium and athletic training in Sunday school work was advocated today by Rev. Dr. Edgar Blake of Chicago in an address before the Massachusetts Sunday School Assn., which is holding its annual convention in this city.

H. S. Conant, general secretary of the association, in his review of the year's work showed that progress had been made in certain directions, and pointed out that there is much need of co-operative work among the members of the association in order to bring about the best results.

A symposium on "Adopting methods to the grades" was a feature of the morning session. The afternoon session consisted of special conferences for pastors and superintendents of Sunday schools in the First Presbyterian church.

STEAMSHIP WRECK

Was Due to Error in Compass the Court Says

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—A court of wreck commissioners here has just completed an inquiry into the cause of the wreck of the steamship Ilesia on Proprietor ledge Oct. 25 in which 35 seamen were drowned. It had been alleged that the wreck was due to the neglect to light and sound off Gannet rock, and testimony to that effect was given by the survivors. The commissioners found that the wreck was due to the following causes: "An error in the compass, due probably to what is known as gaseous error, aided probably by the fact that the vessel carried a cargo of 800 tons of iron."

"Neglect of the master to take soundings when in sight of the Gannet rock."

"Insufficient allowance for tides and the set wind."

"Error of judgment on the part of the master in allowing his ship to get the bearing of the Gannet rock light."

N. Y. CENTRAL ROAD

Plans Pension System for Its Veteran Employees

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—Every employee of the New York Central lines of 70 years or older will be compelled to withdraw from the service on Jan. 1 and retire on a pension.

Official word received by A. H. Hanson, general passenger agent of the Boston & Albany road, yesterday, embraces the latter road in the list of the lines to be affected by the pension plan.

Throughout the entire system over 100,000 employees are enabled to partake in the gratuity plan on their reaching 70 years. The annual cost to the system is placed at $500,000.

All departments are included. In order to receive the pension employees must have been in the continuous service of the road for 10 years.

An annual payment of 1 per cent. for each year of continuous service, based upon the average rate of pay received for 10 years preceding his retirement, will constitute each man's pension. If a man has been in the employ for 50 years he will receive half his pay; 40 years, 40 per cent.; 30 years, 30 per cent.; 20 years, 20 per cent.; 10 years, 10 per cent.

Another condition in the pension plan provides that should a man be unfit for duty he may be retired even before he reaches 70 years. In such cases the pension plan will be decided by the board of directors.

"The idea of pensioning the employees has been under consideration for seven years," said W. J. Frapp, general superintendent of the Boston & Albany yesterday. "Several plans have been under consideration. The fact that this particular plan has been adopted must have been, in the opinion of the directors, the best for the employees."

"There are a great many employees who would have retired several years ago, but have been holding on until the pension system had been adopted by the road. Now they will be able to retire and still have an income."

"No doubt the plan may appear somewhat vague to some, but further details which are sure to follow, will explain many of the qualities of the pensioning system."

At present the New York Central lines, the Pennsylvania railroad and the Baltimore & Ohio are the only roads to pension their employees, although the Boston & Maine have a plan under consideration. It is said that there are more employees over 70 years on the Boston & Albany than on any other road in the country.

In Connection With Robbery of Bank

THE LOWELL CLUB

To Get $500 For Sale of Venable

MEMPHIS, Nov. 13.—The petition of Johnstown, Pa., to enforce the sale of player Wilkes by Lowell, Mass., to Johnstown was allowed by the arbitration board today.

The claims of Wheeling, W. Va. and Lowell, Mass. relatives to the sale of Player Venable for $1000 were adjusted by each club being allowed $500 as it was shown both had an equity on the player. A restraining order was issued to both clubs for failing to file with Secretary Farrell, the sale of Venable.

LOCAL CONDITIONS

DISCUSSED BY MISS SKILTON AT W. C. T. U.

At the W. C. T. U. meeting Thursday afternoon, Miss Emily Skilton, city missionary, talked of her work in Lowell to an interested audience. She spoke of the peculiar conditions in Lowell, owing to the mills located here. Miss Skilton spoke frankly and earnestly of the dangers of this situation to the young girls of Lowell, many of whom go to work in the mills at the age of 14 or 15 years, and come into close contact with all kinds. The need of parents knowing where and in what company their daughters spend their leisure hours was commented upon and the speaker cited incidents which have come to her attention where negligence on the part of parents in this direction has caused heart-breaking misery to parents and daughters alike. She made the statement that it is better to do preventive work than rescue work, very much more satisfactory.

Miss Skilton feels that the reckless expenditure of money among the poorer classes is a problem for thinking people. The fathers and mothers spend their money recklessly, not understanding the importance of frugality, and the children follow their example and spend every penny they can get. Picture shows being their favorite diversion. The additions which are made frequently to our almshouses point the moral, and impress upon us the importance of the Savings Bank System, which should be in operation in every school of our city, for the education of the child. The speaker expressed the opinion that some day Lowell will have an industrial school where girls will be taught domestic science and other useful trades, and they will thus become better home makers.

The meeting closed with a plea from Miss Skilton asking for interest in the Florence Crittenton Shelter. This work has been resumed in our city and is worthy the attention of all who are interested in rescue work.

SCHOOL CENSUS

The Work of Taking It Has Been Completed

The work of taking the school census including children between the ages of five and fifteen years, was completed a few days ago. The census was taken by the truant officers and janitors, nine in all, and a man to every ward. The work of taking the school census is quite a formidable task, a fact quickly realized when one stops to think that every house in the city is visited by the census takers and in some instances they have hard work to have parents understand their mission and the information that is required. The census taker could spin some funny yarns if he wanted to and occasionally he does. The laugh is on one fellow who called at a house and was met at the door by a German woman. "Have you any children between the ages of five and fifteen years?" he asked. "Nein," replied the woman. "Nein is the German for no, but the census taker wasn't up on German and he thought she meant that she had nine children and that's the way he booked it." The census by wards for this year is as follows: Ward 1, 943; ward 2, 1695; ward 3, 1337; ward 4, 1623; ward 5, 1336; ward 6, 3253; ward 7, 1511; ward 8, 1248; ward 9, 1715. Total, 14,710—an increase of 148 over last year, the total last year being 14,562. These census include the public and parochial schools, and ward 6 is the ward that shows the big gain. The total of that ward last year was 2,905 and this year it is 3253.

THE MAYORALTY FIGHT

Candidates Heard in Different Parts of the City

As the campaign grows warmer, Messrs. O'Donnell and Crowley continue to address meetings at their headquarters while the other candidates have taken to mill gate addresses at noon and in public places out doors at night. All have taken up certain issues beneficial to the city at large, to discuss and there is comparatively little of a personal nature heard except from two of the six candidates.

John P. Meehan addressed gatherings at the corner of Lawrence and Rogers and at Concord and Andover streets last evening and spoke at the Lowell Machine shop yesterday.

Rep. Meehan also addressed about 1000 men at the Lowell Machine shop gate, Jackson street, this noon. He was enthusiastically received and listened to with marked attention. He eliminated all personalities and discussed the issues of the campaign, touching also upon the public records of the different candidates now aspiring for the position of mayor. At the close of his remarks he was heartily applauded.

Crowley Meeting

The ward two supporters of Mayor Robert J. Crowley, to the number of 400, met at his headquarters last evening and the meeting was presided over by John Queenan with Frederick Lawson, secretary. Mayor Crowley addressed the gathering, which was large and enthusiastic, for 40 minutes, pleading for united action by democrats to secure a victory.

Maloney Meeting

An audience of 600 employees of the American Hide & Leather company listened to William E. Maloney at the corner of Perry and Rogers street this noon. He advised improved conditions in tenement property in this city, and he urged the establishment of a playground at Fort Hill park. He said he wanted a clean, manly campaign, and that he would not attempt to attack any of the other candidates. He was enthusiastically cheered when he concluded.

Six members of the present board of aldermen are running again. They are Messrs. Badger, Adams, Dexter, Gray, Wainwright and Connors.

At the request of friends in both parties Dr. James E. Leary filed papers for the school board in ward seven. In this ward Andrew G. Swapp who has held the position 25 years, retires from the office and to succeed him three republicans are contesting for the nomination. Dr. Leary will have no opposition for the democratic nomination.

On the democratic list for aldermen are five candidates who have previously held the position: Col. Carmichael, Owen E. Brennan, James J. Gallagher, Joseph McDonald, and the present democratic member, Jeremiah Connors.

Ward five beats all records for councilmanic candidates, having 12 in the field.

If a special election is held for county commissioner there may be an opportunity to get through the county ring.

SHOT BY WOMAN

Farm Manager Morley Refused to Marry Her

DETROIT, Nov. 12.—Samuel F. Morley, farm manager on a large estate at Bloomfield hills, 20 miles north of Detroit, died today from two bullet wounds inflicted last night, according to the man's dying statement, by Miss Bertha Litzen, cook at the farm, whom he had refused to marry. The couple were walking along a country road, Morley said she asked him to marry her and when he refused she drew a revolver and shot him through the neck and the abdomen. Officers found Miss Litzen in bed in her room and took her into custody. In a cell at the Pontiac station Miss Litzen gave her version of the affair to the officers. "Morley did me a great wrong in promising to marry me and in refusing to do so. I shot him. And if I were going to die in three minutes I would not ask forgiveness for what I have done. He got what was due him."

ANOTHER LYNCHING THE BRITISHERS

White Man Who Killed Wife Was Seized By Mob

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 12.—Henry Salzman, white, a photographer who killed his wife last July with an axe, was taken from jail at 11.40 o'clock last night by a mob and hanged to a telegraph pole and his body was riddled with bullets. This lynching followed the lynching of Will James, a negro, earlier in the evening. James was hanged for the murder of Miss Annie Peiley.

Gov. Deneen, who is in Chicago, was appealed to by Sheriff Davis, who telephoned from Cairo that troops were necessary.

The governor ordered eleven companies of the National guard to Cairo at once.

The mob gave Salzman a chance to confess after the rope was around his neck, but he was so frightened that he could only mumble that his sister killed his wife.

The mob became furious at this and they had hard work to keep off Salzman long enough to give him a chance to pray. The mob finally subsided and a short religious service held, after which he was strung up the rope being placed over a telegraph pole at 21st and Washington streets.

The mob found some difficulty in breaking the cage as it was an entirely steel structure, but after a half hour of telling blows upon the door it gave way and Salzman was secured. The mob rushed him out of the back door of the jail, which is in the basement of the courthouse, around the building, through the yard and out into Washington avenue and up to 21st street, which is a prominent corner and has a public square.

He cried and begged piteously for his life and was met by cries and blows from the mob.

When Salzman was asked for his last statement, a man, a stranger in the crowd, stepped forward and said he believed Salzman was innocent, whereupon the mob fell upon him, kicked him and finally knocked him down and it was only the pleas of cooler persons with the mob that saved his life. He was compelled to beg mercy from the mob and announced in a loud voice that Salzman should be lynched, after which he was driven from the mob and all attention was given to Salzman.

After Salzman was hanged, and while his body was being riddled with bullets the rope broke and his body fell to the ground. The mob went away and left it.

Salzman was born and reared here. He had been married about two years last July when his wife was found at her home with her skull fractured. A bloody axe was found under the bed. Two babies were playing in the mother's blood. Salzman was found at the house of his mother, where he often slept at night. Before Mrs. Salzman died she recovered enough to accuse her husband of attacking her.

Feeling against him had been bitter and last night after the lynching of James, when someone suggested Salzman, the mob rushed for the county jail, got Salzman and lynched him.

Won Another Victory at Horse Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Before the biggest crowd the National Horse Show has drawn since the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia, the British officers won their third victory last night in the jumping competition open to all nations.

Lieutenants Yorke and Sebag Montefiore, riding abreast in full uniform on government horses, were first over the board fence of 4 feet, 3 inches, the four feet stone wall and the double post and rails obstacles 30 feet apart.

Lieutenants Gordon Johnson and L. S. Martin, of Fort Riley, Kansas, were second, and another British pair, Major Beresford and Lieutenant Walwyn, third. Lieutenant Walwyn also won the McClay cup this afternoon for hunters which have ridden to hounds eight or more times this season.

In the less spectacular classes today, Judge W. H. Moore kept up his long line of victories over Alfred G. Vanderbilt. His Quick Sand and Quick Silver took a blue in the taunton class; his Robin Hood took the George Watson cup for horses shown before a lady's single victoria; his Lady Seaton took the English hackney challenge cup; and Robin Hood again, driven in pair with Wallenstein won first from both the Vanderbilt and C. Watson entries in the class suitable for a heavy vehicle.

BLAZE IN CAR

DEPARTMENT RESPONDED TO ALARM FROM BOX 271

An alarm from box 371 about 11.30 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a sand car at the power house of the Boston & Northern in Middlesex street. The car was stationed in the rear of the station, and the railway officials are puzzled as to the cause of the blaze. The car had not been used yesterday. The blaze was insignificant, one stream completely smothering it.

WARRANTS OUT

For Arrest of Prominent Chinese

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—The latest development in the war between the Yee and On Yick Tong, which has resulted in the death of five Chinese since November 2, was the issuance yesterday of warrants for the arrest of Tong King Chong, secretary of the Chinese Free Masons and editor of the Chinese Daily Free Press and Gee Hong On, president of the On Yick Tong.

The warrants were issued on complaint of Yee Fun accusing the men of responsibility for the murder of Yee Hong Hong, on the night of November 2. Gee Hong On and Tong King Chong are among the most influential Chinese on this coast.

The lives of three On Yicks has been taken in revenge for the slaying of two Yees in the feud over the ownership of the pretty slave girl, Ba Gue.

MERRY REUNION

Of Long Pond Vacationists in Boston

The vacationists of Long pond road held their annual reunion and dance in Catholic Union hall, Boston, on Wednesday evening. The reunion, in its attendance and in its happy renewals of friendships, was a success. In fact, so many vacationists were present that during a portion of the evening dancing space was at a premium. Catholic Union hall is known as one of the finest halls in Boston and the gathering assembled there was in keeping with the hall. There were about 400 present.

The guests went to the reunion at an early hour. From eight till nine o'clock the orchestra, entertained with selections from popular and classical music. During this time vacation friendships were renewed and vacation experiences related. Not a group could be passed without hearing the "lake," "Long Pond," "Willow Dale," and the like, mentioned by some former summer resident of that vicinity.

The bachelor girls composing the fifty-seven varieties were to be seen scattered about the hall. Unlike vacation time, however, they now were accompanied by "gentlemen friends" and, needless to say, in the eyes of none could be found that far-away look, seen at times as the bachelor girls on their vacation wistfully gazed Bostonwards while seated by the shores of Long Pond.

And, let it be stated, there was also a difference in dress. At the pond, our bachelor girl was a bachelor indeed; she cared not a hang about the correct hang of her skirt or the proper tilt to her hat, if that she had. At the reunion, however, art, though little needed, collaborated with nature and from such a union there emerged in all the glory of a pretty gown, diminutive dancing slippers and bewitching tresses, the bachelor girl as seen at Catholic Union hall.

Not alone was there to be seen a difference in dress, but also there could be noted a difference in deportment. Telling tales out of school, however, is always a deplorable practice, a practice never to be encouraged even in the most trivial matters, so therefore, this topic will not be aired for the amusement of a frivolous public.

Each of the dances on the program was dedicated to some particular person, locality, or event well known to those present, and these, recalling as they did kindly and pleasant incidents by the returned vacationists were appreciated only as the memory of bygone pleasures can be.

Many Lowell people who during the summer had made the acquaintance of the Bostonians attended the dance. Mr. and Mrs. Schofield of Dracut, at whose farm the greater portion of those present had spent their vacations, were the guests of honor.

Mrs. M. J. Harrington of Somerville assisted by twenty-two of the bachelor girls, with James MacSorley of South Boston, had general charge of the dance. Mr. James Rogan was chief aid.

MUSICAL COMEDY

WILL BE PRESENTED BY K. OF C.

In the rooms of the Knights of Columbus in the Associate building Wednesday evening the first rehearsal of the comic opera "The Maids and the Middles," which will be presented by the council was held. The rehearsal was under the direction of Harold Lowell Tracey, the composer of the opera. The production will be presented in the opera house during the early part of February and will be given two presentations. Mr. Tracey assisted by Mark Sullivan of Boston selected some of the chorus and talent for the dances included in the piece. Considering the short time the committee which has the sole charge of the producing of the piece had in the securing of the talent, an excellent representation of the talent, the cast will be composed of at least 150 people and the society is desirous of securing the young talent of the city.

Lowell Council, K. of C. will tender a reception to Bishop Joseph Anderson, of Boston, in Associate hall, next Tuesday evening. Members of the order and their friends will turn out in great numbers to greet the new bishop. At the meeting of the council last night committees were named to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A well attended meeting of Division 28, A. O. H., was held last night. The bazaar committee reported progress. It was announced that a class initiation will be held Sunday, Nov. 28, in Asso-ciate hall under the auspices of Division 2.

rehearsal will be held next Thursday night. Grand Union lodge will work the degrees in conjunction with Highland and Veritas lodges.

The regular meeting of Spindle City circle, C. P. of A. was held last evening. After the business meeting an entertainment was held, at which visitors were present from Granville, and other circles. Refreshments were served.

ENJOYABLE TIME

O'Donnell Benefit Asso. Held Party

The annual dancing party of the members of the O'Donnell Mutual Benefit association was held last night in O. U. A. M. hall in Middle street. The members and their friends turned out in large numbers and the party proved to be a very enjoyable one.

The hall was decorated in an artistic manner, and music for dancing was furnished by Gilmore's orchestra. The officers of the evening were:

General manager, Henry W. Worth; assistant general manager, John J. McNabb; floor director, J. T. Henry; asst. floor director, Emma E. McOsker; chief aid, Helen Brady; aids, Mary Rohan, Annette Larean, Nellie Lyons, Katharine McQuaid, Josephine Murphy, Beatrice White, Katherine Sullivan, Louise Charette, Edna Dempsey, Katharine Hackins, Elizabeth Sullivan, Elizabeth Harmsen; general committee, Elizabeth Honan; secretary, Annie Cooney.

FORCED TO JUMP

Women and Children Had Narrow Escape

OSSENING, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Five hundred spectators, mostly women and children, narrowly escaped serious injury here last night in a fire panic in the Opera House when films in a moving picture machine caught fire.

Many who reached the fire escapes were compelled to jump a dozen feet to reach the ground, owing to the failure of the drop ladders to work properly, while many of the 300 persons who scrambled down the single narrow flight of stairs to the exits were bruised. Meanwhile the fire burned itself out without great damage.

ARM TORN OFF

Wm. Taylor Met With a Serious Accident

William Taylor, aged 17 years and residing in Andrews street, had his right arm caught in a picker at the Belvidere No. 2 mill about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and before the machinery could be stopped the lower portion of his arm was torn off.

But little is known about the accident. Abdon F. Swanton, superintendent of the mill, said that the first that he knew of the accident was when Taylor came rushing up to him.

The ambulance was called and the unfortunate boy was taken to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

DANCING PARTY

WAS HELD BY THE "UMEEUUS" CLUB

The "Umeeuus" held a dancing party at Associate hall last night. There was a good attendance and the affair proved to be successful in every particular. During the early part of the evening an entertaining concert program was carried out.

The hall was prettily decorated in hunting of white and yellow, while the stage was banked with evergreen and potted plants. Hibbard's orchestra furnished music.

The managers of the affair were: Messrs. John A. Crowley, James F. Quinn and Thomas E. McGuane.

Negro Who Murdered White Girl Was Lynched at Cairo, Ill.

His Body Was Dragged Through Principal Streets and Burned — Women Active in Mob of Thousands — Another Negro Implicated in the Crime

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 12.—Women were the first to pull the rope when William James, the negro suspected of being the murderer of Miss Annie Pelley was lynched in the most prominent square of this city last night in the presence of 10,000 people. James, was taken from Sheriff Davis, who with his prisoner, had been fleeing from mob violence for 24 hours, and as he was strung up to the public arch at Eighth and Commercial streets the rope broke. The murder was committed last Monday night. Fearing further violence the authorities, after the lynching, ordered the Cairo company of the National guard to be in readiness for service. James, it is said, made a partial confession, implicating another negro, Arthur Alexander, who is being sought. The efforts made to save the negro were no less sensational than the lynching. Sheriff Frank Davis, with two deputies, slipped out of this city Wednesday with James in the effort to secure for him some safe asylum. Anna, Mounds and other towns proved unsafe. Menacing crowds met the party everywhere and finally, in desperation the sheriff with his two deputies and the prisoner sought shelter in the woods with which Davis was familiar. The determined efforts of Sheriff Davis to save his man against whom evidence was purely circumstantial, somewhat chilled the ardor of the mobs which had trailed him, but the funeral of the murdered girl yesterday fanned the vengeful spirit of the citizens in an uncontrollable pitch and nearly 1000 persons, it is said, searched every nook and cranny of the woods for a distance of sixteen miles between Karnak and Vienna. It is said by railroad men that three hundred men seized a freight train on the Big Four railroad, and attaching a switch engine to it started for Karnak to take part in the search. Davis, however, remained still fully under cover until late yesterday when a big body of the mob found the sheriff and his prisoner so weak from hunger and exposure that no resistance could be made. The negro was lying on a river bank between two officers, handcuffed. Davis pleaded in vain for the law to take its course, but the mob was obdurate. Taking James from the officers the crowd marched back to Cairo, where it was met by another mob of fully 5000 people, part of whom spirited the officers away after refusing to listen to their pleadings for the negro's life, and the remainder dragging the victim through the city streets to the principal square of the city where the excitement had drawn together some 10,000 persons. Women were prominent in the mob and when a rope was placed around James' neck some of them rushed forward and seizing one end of the rope were the first to haul away. The negro struggled violently and the rope broke, but before the unfortunate man could regain his feet the mob surged around and from pistol and rifle over 500 shots were emptied into the victim's body. These acts of violence seemed only to whet the mob's appetite for revenge and James' body was then dragged for over a mile through the city's streets to the spot where Miss Annie Pelley's body was found on Monday night and there a huge fire was lighted into which the negro's body was thrown. The alleged partial confession of James, implicating another negro, Arthur Alexander, turned the mob's activities into a new direction and so threatened the outlook that on the instructions of Gov. Deneen from Springfield, the Cairo company of the National guard was ordered to hold itself in readiness for instant service. Sheriff Davis deeply deplored the lynching and said he had done all in his power to save his man, but in his weakened condition and against such heavy odds he was helpless. He said that after talking James from Cairo he had to leave the train at Donagola Wednesday night to elude a mob that was waiting for him at a town ahead. He made an effort to get a vehicle at Donagola, but found it impossible because the news had spread over the country and everyone, knowing the crime that the negro had committed, refused to assist in eluding the pursuers. They even refused food in many cases. At every point where he tried to board a train he was blocked by a threatening crowd. After a long, exhausting, foodless tramp, the sheriff and his deputy had laid down with the prisoner to rest. At dusk scouts of the searchers found the three and news was sent along the line to the scattered mob to board a Big Four train at Holman. This order was obeyed and a big crowd was on the train when it reached Cairo about 8 o'clock. The negro was taken off at Tenth street and marched right through the principal streets of Cairo to the most public place under the city arch at Eighth and Commercial streets. While in custody of the mob coming to Cairo the negro would not talk about the crime, but when he stood under the arch he weakened and confessed that he shot Miss Pelley. He said that Arthur Alexander was implicated in the crime. The attempt at hanging followed quickly. The grunts of the mob, the grinding of the rope and the struggles of the negro stopped only a moment owing to the snapping of the rope. The 10,000 persons who had looked on and danced in glee produced armed men almost by magic and they filled the negro with bullets. Miss Pelley was an orphan, 22 years old. Her home was formerly at Anna, Ill., but for two years she had lived with her sister, Mrs. John Coffman, of Cairo. She was employed as a salesgirl. On Monday evening she left the store at 6 o'clock and walked with her chum, Ella Dolan, as far as Miss Dolan's home, continuing along on her way to her own dwelling. The discovery of the handle of her umbrella Tuesday in the front yard of the residence of Harry Lips, three doors from the Coffman home, indicates that this was where she was first attacked. It is supposed that when she was confronted she struck her assailant with her umbrella and the handle flew into the yard. It is believed that the man thrust the gag into her mouth and carried her back a block to an alley. Marks on the ground showed that she was dragged 75 feet to the spot where she was strangled to death. Her fearfully bruised and lacerated throat and face showed that she fought desperately. The alley is very narrow and is little used and it was after 8 o'clock Tuesday morning before the body was found by a child. Miss Pelley's clothing was almost completely torn from her body. The deep prints of the fingers which throttled her were on her throat. Beside her body were her hat and broken umbrella. Her handbag was gone.

BURIED IN ANNA

ANNA, Ill., Nov. 12.—Miss Annie Pelley, who was murdered in Cairo on Monday night, was buried here yesterday afternoon.

She was graduated from the local high school. She had been a member of the school basketball team.

The floral offerings were so numerous that a wagonload followed the hearse to the cemetery.

BRAILEY OF TOLEDO

GETS CONTROL OF LONG DISTANCE TEL. CO.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—James S. Brailey, Jr., of Toledo, O., yesterday

acknowledged that he had bought a controlling interest in the New long distance telephone company of Indiana but he would not say with whom he was associated in the deal.

Mr. Brailey, it is understood, has bought 75 per cent of the stock of the company at 60 cents on the dollar and the purchase price has been paid.

Pringle denied that he represented the Bell interests.

"Then do you represent the Postal Telegraph company?" he was asked.

"That is a matter of which I will not speak," he answered.

The New Long Distance Telephone company will be operated by practically the same officers as heretofore.

The directors have retained enough of their stock to permit their continuing as members of the board.

Among business men who have been concerned in the development of independent telephone lines it is said that purchases of the stock of different companies in Indiana and Ohio by Brailey and his associates will reach $10,000,000.

END OF A RED NOSE

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections

A peculiar feature of posam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses or any other inflammations, blemishes, or discolorations, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It can be had of any pharmacist who sells pure drugs. Falls & Burlington, and Carter & Sherburne's drug stores make a specialty of it. Fifty cents' worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

Anyone who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

GREAT SECRECY

Being Maintained in Relation to the Sugar Cases

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Following fast on the announcement of the American Sugar Refining Co. that a reorganized working force of the Williamsburg refinery would be installed as a result of the exposure of the weighing frauds came the development today that another large sugar importing concern, the Arbuckle Bros. Co. had begun negotiations with Mr. Stimson for the purpose of paying into the United States treasury duties on sugar imports which the government authorities claim should have been paid on past weighments.

Mr. Stimson declined to discuss this new development in the sugar import fraud case and W. N. Dylkran, counsel for the firm of Arbuckle Bros., retained a similar reticence, but from one of Mr. Stimson's associates it was learned that these negotiations had not only been begun but were well on their way to a conclusion.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained by both the government prosecutors and the representatives of the companies, but there is a persistent report to the effect that indictments have already been found. The belief among those familiar with the case is that these indictments have been sealed and that the negotiations now pending are for the purpose of effecting a compromise whereby on payment of a full refund of all the duties these indictments would be dismissed.

No definite estimate of the amount involved could be gained, but it is generally believed that the refund contemplated aggregates several hundred thousand dollars.

SUFFRAGETTES

Broke up a Play at London

LONDON, Nov. 12. — Suffragettes held up a performance at the Savoy theatre last night, substituting a "votes for women" demonstration until they were ejected.

They had learned that Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, was going to the theatre to see the comedy opera, "The Mountaineers," in which there is a typical song bantering himself and the budget.

While the budget song was on the suffragettes rose and shouted it down with shrieks of "Lloyd-George, why don't you give women votes?" and similar utterances. One wildly waved a stomach pump and another a bottle of milk, which now seem indispensable accessories of their propaganda.

Protests and shouts of "sit down" came from all sides, but the women ignored the remonstrances.

Mr. Lloyd-George kept his eyes on the stage, applauding the attempts of the actors to sing down the hubbub. Soon other people in the dress circle lost patience. Men left their seats and tried to reason with the suffraettes, who only yelled the louder.

The men then tried to remove them, but the disturbers clung to their seats and resisted. Finally policemen were obtained, and with the help of many men the women out to an accompaniment of a chorus of hoots.

JAMES CORBETT

Is Heir to $250,000 Estate

PITTSBURG, Nov. 12.—James J. Corbett, a bricklayer out of work, and heir to a $250,000 estate in Boston, was found in an almost starving condition by Pinkerton detectives yesterday, who notified him of his good fortune. He will start for Boston immediately to claim the estate.

Attorney William H. Scharton of Boston some time ago wrote here, saying that William J. Corbett had recently died in that city, leaving a large estate, to which his brother, who was supposed to live at McKeesport, near here, was the only heir.

Three hours before the letter was received Corbett was seen on the streets of McKeesport searching for work, but suddenly disappeared.

Alderman W. D. Mansfield, one of Corbett's friends, interested Superintendent Dimalo of the Pinkerton's in the search, with the result that yesterday Corbett was located at Morgantown, where one of the charitable county homes is situated.

Corbett, after searching diligently for work, at last had been forced to ask the city for assistance. He said last night that while he knew his brother was wealthy, they never had been on extremely friendly terms, and it was a great surprise to him that he should come in for the amount of money the lawyer's letter indicated he would receive.

Abraham Lincoln Said

"The plain people are the bone and sinew of the nation." He was right, and this wise saying applies to our own city of Lowell. The plain people made Lowell what it is to-day. They are the bone and sinew of the city. They do business in Lowell, they work in Lowell, they earn their money in Lowell, and spend it in Lowell. Most of them are too busy to read the morning paper, with yesterday's news they find it more convenient to read the evening paper with today's news, and ninety-five per cent. of them read The Sun. Merchants, do you not see that the readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. Would you talk to them? Would you tell them about your wares and your prices? Then talk to the people through the advertising columns of the people's paper—THE SUN.

MME. STEINHEIL WEAK When She Took Her Place in Dock Today

Trouard Rielle Continues His Summing Up for the Prosecution—He Contended That the Burglary Story is a Fabrication—He Dwelt Particularly on the Tell-Tale Ink Stains

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Many well dressed, red robed judge advocate resumed his mercurious arraignment. Beginning with the words, "We will live again the tragic night," Trouard Rielle who had opened his summing up for the prosecution yesterday in cold dispassionate words undertook to reconstruct the scenes in the Steinhell home on the night of the tragedy and on the morning following when the crime was discovered. He marshaled the testimony of witness after witness to establish his contention that the burglar story was a fabrication, the pretended blinding of Madame Steinhell a farce; that the money claimed to have been stolen never existed and that the jewels which the widow asserted had been taken from the house were afterward found in her possession.

Mr. Rielle dwelt particularly upon the tell-tale ink stains which the two physicians who examined the injuries of Madame Steinhell claimed to have found upon her knee. During the binding of Madame Japy an inkstand in her room had been overturned and subsequently ink stains were discovered on the gulf of her bed. The prosecutor claimed that during the struggle in the step-mother's room the ink was spilled, spattering both upon the bed and upon the accused. As the advocate general proceeded increasingly severe in his denunciation of the white faced prisoner before him frequently murmurs of dissent came from the rear of the courtroom. "She heard herself described as a cold, calculating fiend with a soft exterior," Madame Steinhell bit her lips and raised her clenched hands in mute protest. "At the conclusion of his description of the night scene when the widow made her false statements to the journalists the prosecutor shouted: 'She can't tell the truth because she is guilty,' whereupon the defendant half rose from her seat and then sank back burying her face in her hands. He insisted that the evidence proved that the apparent illness of the accused after the commission of the crime had been simulated and that subsequent developments had confirmed the suspicion that she had acted with hypocrisy throughout. It was when the police had definitely rejected her story of the gaudy clad burglars and she saw her lover Bordereau slipping from her net because the mystery was unsolved, the prosecutor said, that Madame Steinhell in desperation tried to accuse innocent persons. He added: 'She wished to avoid the probability of a non-suit in her favor because such an outcome of the case would not satisfy Bordereau and so unhesitatingly she placed the accusing pearl in the pocket of her servant, Couillard.' A dramatic incident occurred as the prosecutor concluded his resume of the evidence against the defendant, M. Aubin jumping to his feet, exclaimed: 'Dare you upon your conscience name the accomplices at whom you have been hinting throughout your argument? Were they Marietta and Alexandre Wolf?' The spectators who have watched eagerly for just such bits of byplay, burst forth in applause. Judge De Valles threatened to clear the courtroom and this warning was effective. When quiet was restored M. Trouard Rielle said, "I decline to answer."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—History of the ice industry along the Kennebec river in Maine was taken up at today's session of the trial of the American Ice Co. for alleged violation of the anti-monopoly law, the state aiming to show that control of the Maine supply was used by the company accused to restriction of output and deterioration of the industry.

Augustus Herker of Gardner, Me., a veteran in the ice trade, testified that in 1889 the American Ice Co. secured control of the ice houses along the Kennebec and that since that time many of the houses have been burned down or abandoned to decay.

A Long Coat Note for Women

We have just received some rather surprising winter coats, full length, single or double breasted, and of fine quality kersey and lined throughout—the quality that goes into higher priced garments.

But we shall charge exactly $12.50 apiece for these coats because they are made up from short lengths which the maker had in his shop. Otherwise they would be $18.50.

Women's Rain Coats Reduced—Somebody's excess stock—bought too many styles and the raincoats are now ours.

$12.50 Raincoats, $9.98—Rubberized silk and shower proof cloth. Semi-fitted, high roll collar.

Flannelette Kimonos—In Japan this is the principal out-door garment. The American woman has adopted the pretty custom with well-defined limitations and it has become a necessary adjunct of her wardrobe. Our line of Kimonos, made of silk, crepe and flannelette, is far superior to anything shown in other stores and is confined to us. Call and see our Kimonos before buying elsewhere, as we know our goods will prove what we say here.

ANOTHER REGIMENT

Will be Ordered to Cairo Today in Case of Outbreak

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Gov. Dineen retired at 3 o'clock this morning after directing Acting Adjutant General Dickson at Springfield to arrange for rushing a second regiment to Cairo early today in case another violent outbreak of rioting following the night of terror in which two men were lynched by a mob of Illinois citizens.

Just before he went to bed the governor conversed over the telephone with Deputy Sheriff Woodward of Alexander county at Cairo.

Deputy Woodward told him that the mob still was restless, though greatly reduced in numbers.

"Will one regiment of troops be enough?" Gov. Dineen asked Woodward. "The Carbondale company," he explained, "will be there early this morning, at least five other companies will reach there before 9 o'clock and the entire regiment will be on the ground by noon at the latest. I have all plans arranged for the immediate transportation of another regiment in the morning."

The governor asked the sheriff if the saloons had been ordered closed, and when informed that saloons run by the white inhabitants were still open and that many in the mob were drinking freely he suggested that all be closed at once and be kept closed until danger had passed.

Deputy Woodward informed him that Mayor Parsons and the chief of police had not issued such orders and that they were being guarded at their houses because the mob had threatened them with harm. The citizens were angered because the local authorities had permitted James and Alexander to get away after the killing of Miss Pelley.

Governor Dineen told Adjutant Gen. Scott that he expected to cancel his engagement to speak in Chicago tonight and that he probably would leave for Springfield at 11 o'clock today or as soon as he had been informed of conditions at Cairo by Sheriff Davis.

"This affair," said the governor, "is not as serious thus far as it might have been but it is serious enough now and a disgrace to the state of Illinois. This disgrace will be more keenly felt by the citizens of the commonwealth because it is the second time within the last few years that lynching and riots have stained the fame of the state."

Troops are essential in such disturbances and I hope that the presence of the militia at Cairo today will bring the unorganized mob to its senses."

"Though the protection of the men lynched was not under my control no one can regret the affair more than I do," said Mayor Parsons today.

"I do not think that any blame attaches to any official. The entire community was worked up to such a pitch that no other termination was possible. I believe that the majority of the citizens are pleased at the turn of affairs and while they deplore the disgrace of the city and state they believe that the result will be salutary."

"There has not been an official execution in Cairo for 10 or 15 years and yet the city has had its share of murders. Juries have failed to convict in homicide cases or have convicted for minor degrees and it has been possible for murderers to escape. In fact murder in Cairo I regret to say, has been tolerably safe."

"The feeling against crime that has so long been suppressed has found vent and I believe that Cairo will be peaceful and law-abiding hereafter."

NEGRO'S HEART

WAS CUT TO PIECES AND TAKEN AS SOUVENIRS

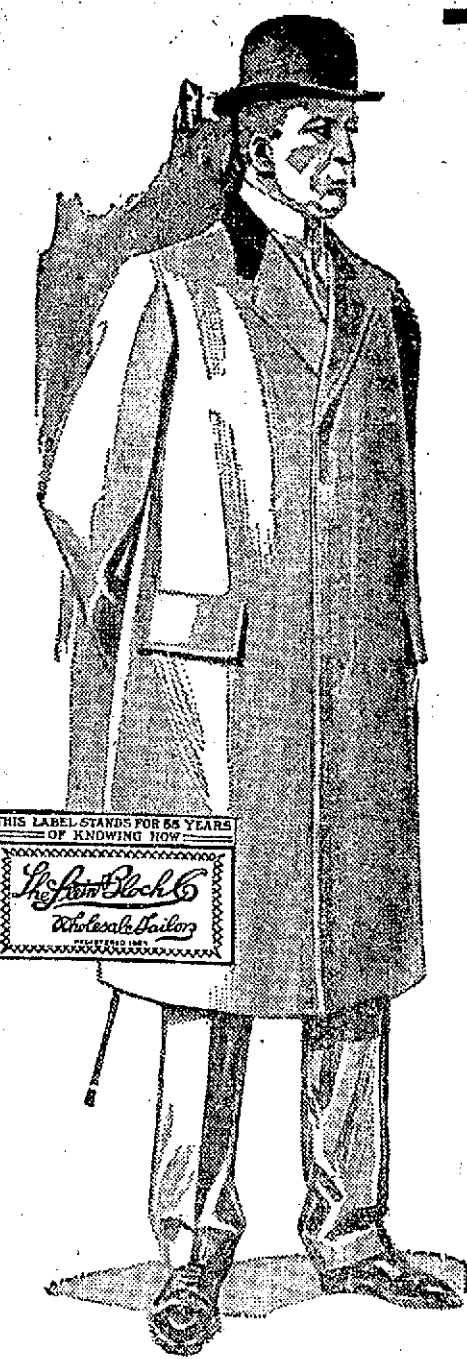

CAIRO, Ill. Nov. 12.—Cairo was quiet this morning after a night of violence such as few cities have experienced. The mob dispersed and only an occasional watcher for the negro Alexander could be seen lurking about the streets. Alexander was secreted in some place the mob could not discover. The confession of the negro, James, implicating Alexander in the horrible crime of murder and assault upon Miss Anna Pelley makes him a much wanted negro and if his hiding place is discovered it may take a regiment of soldiers to protect him. When James, the negro lynched, was captured at Belknap, and while he was being brought to Cairo he absolutely refused to make a confession, but when the rope was around his neck and he was given his last chance to make a statement, he said:

"I killed her, but Alexander took the lead." Many in the great mass of people had become impatient during the effort to induce the negro to make a statement and there were demands for work.

"We don't want to hear him; string him up; kill him, burn him," were frequently heard. The crowd pressed forward and the rope which had been thrown over the steel arch which was in the hands of women was pulled up and the body jerked a few feet from the ground when it broke and came tumbling down. The mob by this time had become so impatient that they fell upon the negro and riddled him with bullets. The body was dragged more than a mile through the streets to the spot where the murder was committed and burned. Before the fire was started the negro's head was cut off and placed on one end of a pole which was stuck in the ground. The heart was taken out, cut up in small pieces and passed among the men as souvenirs. Pieces of the rope with which he was hanged, after being soaked in the negro's blood, were also handed about.

This morning there was nothing left of the negro's body but a pile of bones but large crowds of women visited the spot where he died.

The lynching of Henry Salzman, the white man, for the brutal murder of his wife on Aug. 15 last was a rebuke

"Some Class to Those

Stein-Bloch Coats"

That's what the young fellows say—and they know.

With so many different overcoat models, it's hard to decide which kind it is best to buy—especially, if you can afford only one.

When all's said and done, there's only one Coat that is suitable for every occasion—the regular knee-length overcoat of dark color.

Overcoat styles come and go—sometimes they go too quickly—but the knee-length regular overcoat is doing business all the time, and is good every season.

This year the skirts may be a little longer, the shoulders and chests broader and the back either more shapely or boxy than last year—but in the main the style is the same.

Then, also, if economy is the watchword, the overcoat of black, blue or dark oxford lasts a season or two longer—you don't tire of it so quickly as a fancy color.

But, good tailoring is necessary to give distinction to a dark overcoat—so few know the difference in fabrics, even on close inspection—but the well tailored coat speaks for itself.

Our Stein-Bloch coats are saying: "Come to the SMART CLOTHES SHOP for overcoats of class."

Splendid Winter Overcoats at $15.00

Not Stein-Bloch at this price, but finely tailored coats at that—good all wool kerseys, in black and blue, dark oxford, melton and fancy striped chevots. Sizes include shorts, stouts and longs, as well as regular sizes.

Dressy Winter Overcoats at
$20.00

At this price we think we have the best kersey coat in town at the price—in black and blue—good, beefy fabrics, finely tailored; also vicunas in black and fancy chevots in dark oxfords with faint stripe.

Stein-Bloch Overcoats at
$25.00

While Stein-Bloch prices begin at $20, the $25 range gives a chance for a better choice of fabrics. Kerseys in black and blue, vicunas in black and kerseys, and chevots in fancy weaves, and many models make this showing of fine overcoats one worth any man's time to see.

If you want more luxury—fine, soft vicuna fabrics and silk linings, combined with exquisite tailoring—you can pay as high as $40—and get value.

to delayed justice. The people asked for an immediate trial and ever since the case was put off by the court, dissatisfaction has been universal. She recovered enough to say that he did it, before she died. A great crowd of women were in the mob and they loudly called for Salzman's execution. His body was left lying in the street until morning when it was claimed by his father.

Salzman begged pitifully for his life but he was jeered. With the rope around his neck he stated that his sister killed his wife, which so enraged the mob that they did not want to let him pray but cooler heads prevailed and he was allowed a moment's respite.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Boy Had a Wonderful Escape From Death

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—George Callahan, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Callahan of 56 Haverhill street, Charlestown, had a wonderful escape from death about 1 yesterday afternoon while playing on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad freight yard, between Main street and Rutherford avenue Charlestown, when he fell and was crushed by a moving train.

The little fellow was carried by Thomas McCarthy and a member of the train crew to a shop on Mishawum street. He was then removed to the Relief hospital.

At the hospital the physicians found a compound fracture of the left leg, contusions and abrasions of the right leg, a crushed ankle and multiple injuries about the body.

Mrs. Callahan, the mother of the boy, visited the hospital and was assured the injuries would not prove fatal. The doctors told her the boy's ankle was badly crushed and that it would be necessary to operate on him. She implored the physicians to save the foot.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 12.—Joseph Dumont, aged 30, a Canadian carpenter, made a double attempt at suicide yesterday afternoon by swallowing pills green and by shooting himself in the left breast with a 32 calibre revolver. Dumont occupied a room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Betty of 414 Auburn street.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Betty heard a groan and going to Dumont's room found him lying on the floor holding his hands to his left side. She sent for Dr. R. W. Weeks, who had Dumont removed to his father's home at 3057 Wilson street. His stomach was relieved of the poison, after which Dr. Weeks probed for the bullet without success. The bullet penetrated the lungs and the man was bleeding internally. His condition is critical.

Dumont is said to have been a man of steady habits, who had accumulated a substantial sum of money, and the cause of the attempt upon his life is a mystery. He had not been working for two weeks, but his idleness was voluntary.

BILLY PAPKE

FOUGHT A DRAW WITH FRANK KLAUS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12.—The best the National Sporting club members could give Billy Papke, the Illinois "Thunderbolt," after his fight of six rounds last night at Duquesne Gardens with Frank Klaus, the East Pittsburgh middleweight, was a draw. A large crowd greeted the boxers.

EVERY WOMAN CAN HAVE
LUXURIANT, FASCINATING HAIR

Easy to Stop Hair Falling Out, and Dandruff Also.

No one doubts that it is the duty of every woman to look as charming as possible. Every woman knows why she wants to be beautiful and attractive. So there is little need to discuss reasons in this article.

A woman with scant hair, dull and lifeless, has lost half her charm. How many times have we heard the expression that "the crowning glory of a woman is her hair."

Parisian Sage, the scientific and ideal hair rejuvenator and tonic, will cause hair to grow. It will turn harsh, withered hair into lustrous and bewitchingly luxuriant hair in a few days. It is a most delightful hair dressing that kills the dandruff germs, stops falling hair and eradicates dandruff in two weeks, or your money back. Go to any druggist in America or to Carter & Sherman, and buy a large 50 cent bottle on the money back plan. You take no risk. Use it also on the children's hair. If you want to keep the scalp clean and free from dandruff, mail orders filled by the American makers, the Grouse Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SUBSTITUTE FOR COTTON MAY BE EVOLVED.

The world is waiting for a proper substitute for cotton. The supply is deficient, the price utterly too high for the people who have to work for low wages. A substitute of some kind must be found, and we are confident will be found. When the supply of rags for paper became too small to meet the demand, the experts set their wits to work on the problem of finding a substitute. They soon produced wood pulp which while not as good as paper stock made from rags, still it serves the purpose very well, and rags are no longer considered the main factor in the manufacture of paper.

Necessity is the mother of invention and it is quite probable that a substitute for cotton will soon be produced so that neither the speculators nor the planters will be able to practice extortion on the manufacturers and indirectly on the consumers as they have been doing.

Down at Brookfield, Mass., there has already been established a factory for manufacturing towels out of flax, and so far as the experiment has gone it is most satisfactory. Flax could be grown extensively even in many of the northern states and thus enough might be produced to hold the price of cotton at a normal figure.

The high price of cotton from whatever cause it has been boosted up to fifteen cents, is, therefore, destined to bring about a revolution not only in the production of cotton but also in the production of a substitute for cotton and the cultivation of the fibre in fields where it has never been grown before.

There is no doubt at all that the speculators are mainly responsible for the present high price of raw cotton. They have seized upon every circumstance or cause that might be used as a lever to advance the price, such for example as the report of a short crop, the failure of the crop elsewhere and the cornering of the market to an extent that compelled the manufacturers to pay exorbitant prices or else shut down their factories. The manufacturers have countered in a mild way by organizing a movement for general curtailment but with such a demand for manufactured goods, there can be no curtailment that would affect the price of raw cotton to any great extent. The manufacturers expect that a curtailment would benefit them in two ways, to wit, first, to bring down the price of raw cotton and second, to increase the price of the manufactured product. There is a very general belief that the day of cheap cotton has gone by. It is true we may seldom if ever see cotton down to six cents, but on the other hand it is not at all likely to remain long in the neighborhood of fifteen cents.

The cotton planters have combined to shorten their crops in order to keep up the price. That was their first step. So firmly were they bent on this object that some whose crop was more abundant than they anticipated actually burned a certain number of bales. That was several years ago.

The crop this year was shorter than the planter wished it to be, for they have felt a demand for the staple that caused them to wish their crop had been much heavier. As a result it is expected that next year's crop will be heavier than ever before.

The high price has led to an increase in the cost of production, because the labor employed has demanded a share of the large profits of the planter. Moreover, the supply of plantation labor is steadily decreasing and no substitute can be found to do equally good work for anything like the same wages. That is a permanent condition that will tend to increase the cost of production.

It is to be regretted that this country does not produce nearly enough cotton to supply the home consumption and as a result a considerable amount is imported. Last year this country imported about 80,000,000 pounds of foreign grown cotton valued at $14,165,400 together with cotton "locks" to the value of $446,264, all free of duty. Strange to say much of the cotton imported went to the south, so that we may expect the planters soon to raise the cry for a tariff on raw cotton. Should a tariff be imposed it would solidify more than any other single thing the causes that combine to increase the price of cotton.

Here then comes the opportunity for some substitute for cotton, whether it be an inferior quality of cotton from some of our colonies from Egypt, India or Japan, or whether it be flax or some other fibre yet undreamt of as suitable to take the place of cotton.

The high price of cotton has had its effect in England to a greater extent than in this country, for England does not grow her own cotton. She does, however, manufacture nearly half the cotton cloth made in the world. It is estimated that the cotton spindles of the world number 104,000,000, and the looms 1,350,000. Of these, 44,000,000 spindles and 650,000 looms are in Great Britain.

During the last three years the value of cotton imports were $175,600,000, and the value of the manufactured product $450,000,000, leaving a balance of $275,000,000 in favor of the cotton industry of England. Under such conditions, it may be assumed that England will make a great effort to have cotton grown in India and Australia to supply her manufacturers and then enable her to avoid purchasing any large part of her supply in the United States.

Thus by putting up the price excessively, the speculators and the planters may defeat their own object by forcing foreign nations to find a cheaper supply or else some proper substitute elsewhere. The whole question of cotton production is one of great national importance at the present time and one to which our government should give close attention in order first to put an end to gambling in cotton and secondly, to increase the average so as to meet not only the demands of the home consumer but also to supply the foreign demand for cotton at a fair price.

If necessary immigration should be encouraged to the southern states so as to increase the labor supply and thus avoid the increased cost that must result from a scarcity of labor.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Kate Douglas Wiggin's play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," as a dramatization of her two Rebecca books, of which over half a million copies have already been sold. Mrs. Wiggin is now busily rehearsing the play, which will have its first appearance in Springfield on Nov. 18. The other day when the property man and some of the stage hands were called in for a conference, the children were rehearsing the first act. The wonderful Concord stagecoach (found by Mrs. Wiggin in an old barn in York county) was drawn up outside the gate, while Emma Jane Perkins, Minnie Snells and the others were welcoming Rebecca to Riverboro. "Say," said the property man, "you'd better hire the theatre for a year. It's a combination you can't beat, kids and horses!"

The new place by Moreau which Mme. Bernhardt will shortly produce at her theatre, appearing herself in the principal role, is exactly what the title "Le Procès de Jeanne d'Arc," would indicate. It is almost entirely taken up with the trial of the Maid of Orleans, the whole action passing at Rouen, two of the scenes in the castle of Philippe Auguste, one in the cell of the accused, and one in the grand hall of parliament overlooking the place of execution. The great actress declares the play a masterpiece, powerful and sublime, and that it is intense joy to reveal such a work to the public. Meanwhile her own drama, written during her summer vacation and still lacking a title, will be placed in rehearsal in a few days.

Dr. John Morgan of Boston, who sold for $7,500,000 part of his copper mine holdings in the island of Jamaica, has given to his brother, Dr. B. B. Morgan of Paterson, N. J., who is in very moderate circumstances, $1,000,000, which has been accepted.

The ex-sultan of Turkey does not seem to be taking his exile philosophically. A writer in T. P.'s Weekly tells that some times, after sitting alone for a long time at his table, wrapped in gloomy meditations, Abdul strikes the table with his fist—a thing he had never before been in the habit of doing—and cries: "Nahet Olsun! Nahet Olsun!" (Malediction! Malediction!) Sometimes he gets his wives to draw cards and make revelations about his future, but before this operation is finished he gets up suddenly and goes away, saying: "Bachen She! Machen She!" (Futility! Futility!) At times, when overcome with fatigue, he falls asleep, only to wake up with a start and rush around the room as if pursued by phantoms. In fact, the deposed Turk seems to be about as unhappy as he can well be.

but the manner in which he fenced with the prosecutor belied his reputation.

The witness-defendant described the "third degree" examination to which he claimed to have been subjected at the police station in Cambridge immediately after his arrest. He said that Lieut. Gordon of the Cambridge police sat close to him, facing him, and read a written confession purporting to come from Delorey, the other defendant. The police officer, according to Mantir, read the alleged confession in an exceedingly loud voice and when the witness raised his head to swear to his innocence Lieut. Gordon roughly pulled his hand down, he testified.

Mantir declared that the only time he ever went to Cambridge with Delorey was once when they drove in from outside the city with a load of furniture. Peter Delorey of Somerville, the co-defendant in the trial, followed Mantir and within a few minutes had declared that his alleged confession was a "pack of lies," that he never saw Annie Mullins and that he was not with Mantir on the night of the murder. He claimed that his story to the police after his arrest in which he accused Mantir of the crime was not true and that he was lying when he told his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Delorey, that he knew of the murder.

Delorey was not as cool as Mantir, and frequently contradicted himself, especially during his cross examination by District Attorney Higgins.

NORTH DAKOTA

In Class by Herself for Steaming Radius.

QUINCY, Nov. 12.—Official figures made public today indicate that the new battleship North Dakota in addition to being one of the three largest fighting ships afloat, an honor which she shares with her sister ship, the Delaware and the British ship Nippon, is in a class by herself so far as steaming radius is concerned. The figures compiled on her official endurance trials of the New England coast show that the North Dakota sailing at an average speed of 12 nautical miles an hour has a steaming radius of 9000 knots without re-coaling. At a 19 knots speed the big ship will be able to steam 4000 knots without replenishing her bunkers while she will also be made to cover 3000 knots without re-coaling when steaming at her maximum speed. This local steaming radius is made possible by the low coal consumption, the tests having demonstrated that the American built turbine engines with which the North Dakota is equipped require less fuel than do the reciprocating type.

The official figures for the three hours of the full power trial, the 24 hours at 19 knots, and the same period at 12 knots show a material saving of water used in the form of steam.

Hair Health

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of This Offer

We could not afford to so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if we were not certain that it would do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

Therefore, when we assure you that if your hair is beginning to unnaturally fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness, you may rest assured that we know what we are talking about.

Out of one hundred test cases Rexall "93" Hair Tonic gave entire satisfaction in ninety-three cases. It has been proved that it will grow hair even on bald heads, and, of course, the baldness had not existed for so long a time that the follicles, which are the roots of the hair, had not become absolutely lifeless.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is vastly different from other similar preparations. We believe that it will do more than any other human agency toward restoring hair growth and hair health. It is not greasy and will not gum the scalp or hair or cause permanent stain. It is as pleasant to use as pure cold water.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The three act farce, "The Patriot," with William Collier, the inimitable comedian, was presented at the Opera House last night before a fair sized audience. Collier is well known to the theatre going public, having been seen in "A Fool and His Money" and "Caught in the Rain." While both of the latter pieces had more substance than did the farce in which he appeared last night, there was plenty of humor handed out to the audience in the latter.

In every production that Collier appears he is what might be called the "whole show." His mannerism on the stage is enough to provoke laughter, and every minute that he was behind the footlights last night his witty sayings brought forth applause.

The piece presents Collier as "Sir Augustus Plantagenet Armitage," who was brought up on the plains and in the mining camps west of the Rockies. A romantic love affair is worked out to a happy finality through a lot of adverse circumstances, interesting situations and plenty of fun.

The cast of characters was as follows:
Sir Augustus Plantagenet Armitage, William Collier
Pop Strong, M. J. Heckert
Steve Masterson, Wallace Worsley
Percival Robertsonshaw, Frank H. Westerton

Caesar, Thomas Martin

"THIS WOMAN AND THIS MAN."
The new play by Avery Hopwood, "This Woman and This Man," which was first played at the Adelphi theatre, Philadelphia and which is said to be the greatest natural play written, was the fourth play of its kind of the season's successes; the first being "The Man From Laramie," second "The Fastest Way," third "The House Next Door" and the fourth "This Woman and This Man." All the above plays were written or translated by American authors and in the majority of cases the writers have not reached the age of thirty. In fact the most of the plays produced the past season were written by young men just out of college.

Mr. Avery Hopwood is a young man in the early twenties and to have written a play dealing with a theme that has been proclaimed a life drama of the most intense interest with one of the most powerful lessons ever portrayed on the American stage is an accomplishment that many an older writer would like to have to his credit. Miss Minnie Victorson, the star, in speaking to Mr. Hopwood of the play asked him "Where he had gotten his material." It seemed impossible for her to believe that one so young could have conceived so strong and natural a play. Mr. Hopwood's ready reply was "I get my ideas by conversing with clever people like you."

"THE CANDY SHOP."
The summer's run of "The Candy Shop" at the Studebaker theatre, Chicago, is said to have collected an enviable toll from its players. Since the opening local performance of the gaiety in the Western city in June, William Rock danced and sung away 6 pounds in weight; Maud Fulton, 7; Frank Lalor, 11; Lucy Weston, 7; W. J. McCarthy, 4; Douglas Stevenson, 6; Florence Morrison, 10; Louis Harrison, 10; Mlle. Rayo, 7; Lillian Rice, 2; Angie Weiners, 3 and dear old Mrs. Annie Yeamans. The chorus girls of the company lost an average of 4 pounds each, or an aggregate of almost 200 pounds. "The Candy Shop" comes here for a matinee and evening performance on Saturday, November 13, at the Opera House. It comes intact direct from the Tremont theatre where it attracted crowded audiences all the present autumn and where good New England beans and buckwheat cakes required some of the players' tissue lost in Chicago.

HELEN GRAYCE.
No more attractive plays than "When We Were Twenty-One" Monday afternoon and "In the Palace of the King" at night, could possibly have been selected to open the engagement of Miss Helen Grayce at the Opera House commencing Monday. Both are appreciated wherever the better class of drama is popular, and they promise to be enacted and staged in a manner that will establish a new record in local amusements. They will be followed by "The Toast of the Town" Tuesday afternoon and that fascinatingly odd play, "The House of a Thousand Candles" Tuesday evening. Other bills for the remainder of this unusual engagement are "The Pitt," "When Knighthood Was in Flower," "In the Bishop's Carriage," "Secret Orchard," "The Marriage of William Ashe" and "Thea." The roster of the organization includes Rogers Barker, Edmund Abbey, J. Sydney Macey, Edwin Harris, George P. Randall, Lynn Osborne, W. S. Kosta, Wm. Kohman, Josephine Fox, Charlotte Downing, May Waldron and Dorothy Lane. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Another well balanced bill is on parade at Hathaway's theatre this week. The array of interesting acts will surely command the attention of lovers of real variety. James Kennedy, a popular favorite here, appears in his latest comedy called "Jack Swift." He is assisted in the presentation by a clever company of actors. Another act which cannot fail to please is "The New School Teacher," given by those rattlefies for fun and music, the Avon Comedy Four. Both of these acts will be found to headline timber.

The other acts offered are good, too. Among them are: Lee Bros. & Allen, in a sprightly dancing novelty; Sprague & Linton, in general fun; Donnelly and Harlowe, in catchy travesties; Peter F. Baker, dialectician; the flying Martins, aerialists, and the Hathascope with new films. Performances of the aforementioned acts will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

THEATRE VOYONS

The Theatre Voyons offers today one of the best and most deserving headlines of the season in "The Prodigal Son." This picture tells the biblical story of the same name in a manner that brings its lesson home to everyone. The second feature "From Cabin Boy to King" is a fine melodramatic picture novel in plot and full of surprising and interesting situations. Two illustrated songs are sung in an unapproachable manner by Jack Manchester and Mrs. Balce.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

If last night's big audience at the Academy is to be taken as a criterion, in Kenney and Hollis, the management has two comedians whose every action carries with it an appeal to the risibilities, and only two more days remain to give you a chance to see this clever team of mirth makers. Ben Wilsson, also proved himself an adept at funmaking, and his beautiful tenor voice was heard to advantage. The picture part of the program was' exceptionally good.

STAR THEATRE

At the Star theatre, clean, warm and cosy, for an admission of five cents, "the biggest and best show in Lowell" can be seen, consisting of two vaudeville acts, profusely illustrated songs and entirely new motion pictures. The motion picture program was changed this afternoon. Large audiences, made up in a great measure by women, attended the afternoon performance.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS

Explains the Status of the Contempt Proceedings

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—President Gompers devoted some time today explaining to the convention of the American Federation of Labor the status of the contempt proceedings under which he, Vice-President Mitchell and Secretary Frank Morrison have been sentenced to terms in jail.

Mr. Gompers said there were three ways in which the case could reach the supreme court, by writ of error, writ of certiorari, or by writ of habeas corpus after the defendants had been placed in jail. Mr. Gompers expressed doubt whether a writ of error were available in the District of Columbia.

He said that if that course were decided upon by the defendant attorneys the supreme court might grant a writ of certiorari in view, Mr. Gompers said, of the "generally accepted opinion that this case ought to be brought to the highest court of the United States in order that the principles involved may be tested."

The speaker was doubtful whether the principles involved could be properly brought before the court by writ of habeas corpus.

"Either we have the right of free speech and free press or we have not," said Mr. Gompers, "and we want the court to say so. Whether we will go to jail I do not know. I have an abiding faith in the justice of our cause and I can only express the hope that the higher courts of our land will immortalize themselves by the reiteration of the magna charter and the constitution of the United States. I know of no case in which the principles of equal justice, of constitutional rights and human liberty have been involved of equal importance since the abolition of black slavery."

Mr. Gompers characterized the sentences imposed by Judge Wright as "cruel, unusual and extraordinary," and declared that no man in the United States was ever sentenced before for a longer period than six months for contempt of court.

An extension of 15 or 20 days will be asked for by the defendants, and the conference with their counsel will be held after the convention adjourns in order to determine what steps will be taken in their defense.

The reports were ready for presentation at today's session. At 10:40 o'clock the convention adjourned until tomorrow.

IN POLICE COURT

Springfield Youth Was Caught Entering Store

Frank Demaras, aged 20 years and claiming Springfield as his home, was caught in the act of entering the store of Theodoras Kyrenakos at 596 Merrimack street late last night by Patrolman Jeremiah Dooley. In the arrest of Demaras the police feel confident that they have a clever key worker or who might have entered many local places, but for the fact that he was detected when he was.

When searched at the police station it was found that he had two bunches of keys, there being about 25 keys of various descriptions in both bunches.

While Patrolman Dooley was passing through upper Merrimack street his attention was attracted by the sound of some person trying to insert a key in a lock. The officer went to the doorway from which the sound came and was just in time to see Demaras taking a key out of the lock of the door of Kyrenakos' store.

Demaras was arraigned in court this morning on a complaint charging him with attempting to break and enter in the night time and commit larceny. He pleaded guilty to the complaint and the court finding probable cause held him under $300 for the grand jury.

Sick or Drunk?

Patrolman Matthew McCann found John J. Kelly sitting on the steps of the old Boston & Maine depot last Sunday night. The man seemed to be in a stupor and his answers to questions put to him by the officers were such that he was sent to the police station, where he was booked for drunkenness. Later the man was sent to the city farm.

This morning he appeared in court and entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. Patrolman McCann said that he could not swear that the man was drunk. He said that Kelly seemed to be in a stupor. The testimony offered by Patrolman McCann was corroborated by Patrolman Gilbert Sheridan.

Kelly, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was subject to sick spells. He said that in "he contracted malaria in the south and that from time to time it bothered him. He said that he had tried to get to the city farm to receive treatment but was told by some person that the only way to get there was to get arrested. He claimed that at the time he was arrested he had not touched a drop of liquor.

The court after considering the case asked him if allowed to go would he do so and he said "Yes."

Drunken Offenders

Fred Vallery, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to five months in jail. Martin Kierec, James B. Battie, and Annie Mullen were each sentenced to four months in jail. There were two $2 drunks.

THE HOYT SALE

Completed by Conant & Co., at Noon Today

Mr. E. B. Conant finished the sale of the furnishings of the Hoyt residence at 12:30. It was a big job for one auctioneer, but Mr. Conant disposed of the 1114 lots in remarkably short time. He did not dwell long on anything but nevertheless did a great deal of talking, describing the articles in a plain, brief, but very expressive manner. The bidding today was very brisk and it was the general opinion that many articles sold for more than they are worth.

The big hall clock, with a few other lots, was sold to Boston parties. The clock went for $150.

Yesterday's sale lasted six hours and 20 minutes and during that time 800 catalogued lots of household goods were sold. The auctioneer, Mr. Conant, started at ten o'clock sharp and did not finish until 4:20 in the afternoon. The amount realized on the 800 lots was about $6600.

There were a great many interested buyers and while Mr. Conant succeeded in getting good prices he made good time and not for a second did he allow interest in the sale to lag. First he tackled the attics and from there he went to the second floor where the bedrooms were taken in order. Mirrors and pictures were sold in quick succession and a chamber set that cost $415 went for $77.50. Interest in the sale increased when the series of paintings on the hall on the second floor were reached. The paintings included some expensive landscapes by Phelps, Veltou and Bremer. "The Hunt," by Veltou, brought $105; "The Valley," by Phelps, $20; "Fisherman's Wharf in York River, Me.," $26; "The Brook," by Phelps, $17; "An Early German Village," by Phelps, $15; "The Alps," by Phelps, $115; "Wood Gatherers in the German Beech Woods," by Veltou, $40; "The Thunderstorm," by Phelps, $110; "The Matterhorn," by Phelps, $180; "Peace and Its Environment," by Bremer, $40.

An antique Iran Ferahan rug sold for $50, and an antique Cabistian brought $24, and an Anatolian rug, $35.

Mrs. VandenBerg purchased many of the articles, evidently with a view to retaining them for continued use in the house, which she purchased at Wednesday's auction.

The afternoon sale included a number of important items, such as the furnishings of the reception room, living room and library. The books were disposed of without difficulty at fairly good prices. The portrait of Mr. Hoyt, by Lawson, was sold, without much contest, to P. B. Shedd, the business associate of the late Mr. Hoyt.

A $50,000 OFFER

Paris Wants the Jeffries-Johnson Bout

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Norman Selby, better known as Kid McCoy, the former pugilist, arrived in New York last night on the Lusitania, carrying a bid from a Paris syndicate for the Jeffries-Johnson fight. "We hope to persuade the champions to fight in the Cercle De Paris next June, during the week of the Grand Prix. I am authorized to offer $50,000 francs ($80,000) and other inducements." The Cercle De Paris will seat 7000 and has standing room for 3000 more. If the fight goes there, the occasion will be made a great society event, and a third of the spectators will be women.

YALE STUDENTS

Anxious About Captain Coy's Condition

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 12.—The condition of Captain Coy of the Yale team is occasioning much anxiety to the student body and Yale supporters in general. The coaches insist that Coy's illness is not serious enough to prevent his getting into the game tomorrow, though he is not expected to play the entire game. The heat today caused the coaches and trainers to curtail the signal practice which was held behind closed gates on the field. The makeup of the team has not been decided upon and probably will not be definitely settled until the morning before the game. The back field will, it is thought, be without the services of Philbin at the start, his going into the game depending in a large measure upon the showing made by Princeton early in the game. Other than Captain Coy, the members of the team are in good physical condition and excellent spirits.
